NEW STUDENT AT A NEW SCHOOL

As new as her surroundings, Deborah Koss was one of thousands of students who flocked back to school today throughout Marin County. On hand to give her a reassuring welcome was first grade teacher Lela Barnette, at Dixie School District's new Oak View School, 70 Skyview Terrace, San Rafael. Housing kindergarten through the sixth grade, the school has four permanent classrooms and portable facilities for two other classrooms, the library and administrative offices. Construction is expected to be completed in February for four additional rooms. (Independent-Journal photo)

$250 Million In Tax Relief Appears Sunk

Reagan Waiting Word Of Placing Plan On Agenda

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Hardcore Senate opposition significantly dimmed today Gov. Ronald Reagan's chances of winning passage of a $250 million property tax relief program.

Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, predicted the Legislature would wind up its special session this week "without any of this so-called tax relief."

Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Inglewood said he's willing to support the Republican governor's plan in general, but added today he's prepared to adjourn the Assembly unless the governor acts later today.

WAITING TO HEAR

Reagan was waiting to hear from Senate leaders before deciding whether or not to ask the Legislature to pass special session tax relief.

"We want to know it's not going to be a futile act," said William P. Clark, Reagan's executive secretary.

But Sen. George Miller Jr., chairman of the finance committee, said it would be just that.

"I don't see any way of getting it through," said Miller.

He led the successful Senate opposition to Reagan's $155 million general property tax relief bill when it died there during the regular session, getting only 17 of the 27 votes required for passage.

MOSCONE TALKS

Also forecasting little or no chance for property tax cuts was Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, Senate Democratic leader.

Republican Sen. Donald Grunsky of Watsonville said Miller's opposition alone wouldn't doom property tax relief this year — a pledge made by both Reagan and the Legislature. But he was uncertain whether the needed Democratic support could be mustered.

The Republican governor said he would put the tax item on the agenda of the special session which opened yesterday if it gets broad enough backing from the Legislature.

"There's no point in just putting it on special call and have a repeat of the last seven months when there was such wide disagreement and inability to get together," Reagan told reporters following a full round of meetings with legislators yesterday.

The governor proposed giving $155 million in general property tax relief; to cut the business inventory tax by $40 million; double the $20 million tax cut now being given to elderly homeowners; eliminate the household property tax on items such as television sets; and grant a $35 million cut in income taxes to middle bracket citizens with large families.

Reagan also proposed a solution to the $144 million construction deficit facing the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District. He would raise motor vehicle registration fees in the three counties and require them to use their share of the $155 million property tax relief to complete the system.

LEAD ON SHOOTING

Chase May Solve Crimes

The suspicions of a fireman and a report of burglary yesterday led sheriff's deputies to arrest two Marin City youths as supects in six burglaries and the Sept. 2 shooting of a Ross boy in Marin City.

The arrests climaxed in high-speed chase down Highway 101, during which a fleeing 15-year-old tried to ram a patrol car and crashed into a mobile home before surrendering at gunpoint officers said.

Melvin White, 18, of 41 Cole Drive, Marin City, was arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon, attempted armed robbery and burglary.

The 15-year-old, who stopped only after officers fired a warning shot, was booked at Juvenile Hall for suspicion of burglary, possessing stolen property, resisting arrest, reckless driving, driving without a license and possession of a concealed weapon by a minor.

Officers said the chase began shortly after noon yesterday when a Marinwood fireman reported suspicious activities by two men on Miller Creek Road.

The fireman said he watched them park their car and walk away, then return 15 minutes later with long white stockings over their hands.

Shortly after the fireman's report, Margaret B. Stewart of 571 Appleberry Lane, in the area of the suspicious activity, reported her home had been ransacked.

Watches and credit cards were missing, officers said.

Deputies broadcast a description of the suspects and their car and deputies Ronald Spurrell and Kenneth Froberg, in Tiburon, soon spotted the vehicle on Paradise Drive in Tiburon.

They chased the car onto Highway 101 and tried to pull it over, they said, and the driver tried to crash into their patrol car.

CHARLES E. GOODELL

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today appointed U.S. Rep. Charles E. Goodell, a fellow Republican, to fill the Senate seat of the slain Robert F. Kennedy, a Democrat.

Rockefeller called the appointment an enormously difficult decision.

Goodell, of Jamestown, N.Y., is a nine-year veteran of the House.

New York election law allows the governor to pick a successor to fill out the term of a senator whose seat becomes vacant. Kennedy's term ran to 1971.

The law has been challenged in federal court on grounds that an election should be held in November to fill the seat.

The court has not yet handed down its decision. It was indicated at a recent hearing, however, that the court might let the appointment stand, pending a special election next year.

Under law, Rockefeller could have named an interim senator at any time following the shooting of Kennedy in June.

Abernathy Is Arrested In Strike

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, several other civil rights leaders and a top union official were arrested today when they joined striking garbage workers in a sit-down to block a city garbage truck.

Abernathy is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the civil rights organization which was headed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., until his assassination last April 4, in Memphis, Tenn., where he was leading a similar campaign in support of striking Negro garbage workers.

Police said 67 persons were arrested as the strike entered its eighth day amid emergency garbage pickup procedures and 12-hour police shifts for close security.

Arrested with Abernathy was Rev. A. D. King, brother of the slain civil rights leader. Also arrested were Rev. Andrew J. Young, SCLC executive vice president; Rev. Joseph Lowery, SCLC board chairman;

Fortas Panel Takes No Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary committee met in closed session for an hour and a half today without taking any action on the controversial nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate Republican leader who was the first member to leave the session before a luncheon recess, told reporters: "Nothing happened."

He said that most of a morning session was taken up with legislative matters and the committee had just started on the Fortas nomination before agreeing to recess.

Pentagon Says No Cause For Apology

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department declared today that the seizure of the U.S. Navy intelligence ship Pueblo and its crew was an illegal act and for that reason there is no cause for an apology to be made.

The statement, read by press officer Robert J. McCloskey, came after a rash of reports to the effect that the United States was planning an apology to North Korea in return for release of the men.

Other reports circulated that North Korea was demanding a personal apology from President Johnson before the crew would be freed.

ASKS PROBE

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has proposed that an impartial body investigate the case after the release of the men and the ship.

If it were found in the investigation that there was a violation of North Korea's territorial waters, Rusk said, the United States would take appropriate action.

But U.S. officials have maintained that the vessel was following instructions and was on the high seas at the time it was halted and forced into Wonsan harbor by the North Korean ships.

INSIDE ZONE

Former Oklahoma congressman Victor Wickersham was quoted in one report as saying that talks he had with North Korean diplomats in Cambodia produced claims that the ship was inside Korean territorial waters and that a personal apology from the President would be necessary if the crew were to be freed.

Asked about this and South Korean news reports of an impending apology, McCloskey read the following statement:

"The seizure of the Pueblo and its crew was an illegal act. For that reason the government believes there is no cause for an apology.

"We have a responsibility to seek the release of the crew and the ship and this has been our determined effort at the talks in Panmunjom.

"If these negotiations are to prove successful we have an obligation to keep the negotiations private."

LBJ Again Rejects Bomb Halt

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — President Johnson today again rejected a complete halt to bombing in North Vietnam and said that events in Eastern Europe make it clear "we are still a long way from the kind of peaceful world we all wish to see."

"The message out of Czechoslovakia," Johnson said, "is plain; the independence of nations and the liberty of men are still under challenge. And the free parts of the world will survive only if they are capable of maintaining their strength and building their unity."

Yet Johnson said that the United States will continue in every honorable way open to move toward more normal relations with Russia and other Communist countries.

The chief executive flew here from Washington to address the American Legion's 50th annual national convention. His stand against a complete cessation of bombing North Vietnam echoed what he had told the convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Detroit on Aug. 19.

And again, also, Johnson voiced a hope that something productive still will come from preliminary talks with North Vietnam in Paris. But he said, as he did in Detroit, that:

"All we have heard so far is a demand that we cease our bombing altogether—with no

Schools In Berkeley Integrated

Laughing, squealing and chatchattering, 3,500 elementary pupils were bussed from their white neighborhoods to schools in Negro areas—or from Negro areas to white districts.

"It's fun. You don't mind going to school with black kids," replied Jane Kemp, a sixth grader, to a question. "I love it."

She was one of perhaps 70 fourth, fifth and sixth graders picked up on one of the Berkeley Board of Education's new 73-passenger buses. They were en route from their homes in the Berkeley hills to Columbus school in the flatlands.

A Negro fourth grader with a gold medallion around his neck stood in the yard of the once all-Negro Lincoln Intermediate School in the flatlands and watched white children emerge from a bus.

"I ain't ever seen so many white boys in my life."

The principal of hitherto all-white Cragmont school, Alan J. McGregor, a Negro, said:

"I would say morale is as high as I've ever seen it among teachers. Some of them have waited 10 years for this day."

Mrs. Mildred King, a Negro bus driver whose two children

Marin Medics Favor Marijuana Treatment

The Marin Medical Society was on record today against legalization of marijuana, but in favor of medical and psychiatric treatment of chronic users rather than merely punishment.

A position paper on marijuana was adopted unanimously by the society's board of directors last night. For the first time, it put the society firmly on record against legalization of the drug.

"Legalizing marijuana would usher in its more potent forms," declared the statement. "Unlike alcohol, marijuana use is not part of the American tradition, and we should discredit efforts to place it there. One dangerous drug, such as alcohol, does not deserve another.

"While persons should not be allowed to become involved with marijuana with impunity, legislators, law enforcement officials, and the courts should differentiate in the handling of the occasional user, the frequent user, the chronic user, the person sharing his drug with another, and the dealer who sells for a profit.

"For those persons who are chronic users of the drug and are psychologically dependent on it, general medical and psychiatric treatment, plus social rehabilitative services, should be made readily available. Such persons should not be treated punitively for their drug abuse alone, any more than persons dependent on other drugs such as narcotics or alcohol."

The society's board of directors urged education on the nature and effects of marijuana in both elementary and secondary schools.

"In summary," it declared, "Marijuana is a dangerous drug and as such is a public health concern."

Austria Extends Military Service

VIENNA (AP) — Austria extended military service today "because the present situation requires the full state of alert of the Austrian army."

The announcement by the Defense Ministry did not say, but the decision apparently was taken because of the Soviet bloc invasion of neighboring Czechoslovakia.

IDA, Mich. (AP) — A tornado struck without warning in the town of Ida last night, demolished a storage shed, tore the roof from a barn and caused extensive damage to a silo.

The only injury occurred when Monroe County Civil Service Director James Gilmore went to the Alfred Van Wasshenova farm in the southeastern lower Michigan town to check damage and was bitten by a dog.

Moderate Success

TOKYO (AP) — Mexican Foreign Minister Antonio Carrillo Flores said today Mexico's recognition of Cuba has been "a moderate success."

Carrillo Flores added that he believed it was a beginning toward normalization of relations between Cuba and the other nations of the hemisphere.

He told the Foreign Correspondents Club of Japan that Mexico had its own experience of international isolation in the early part of the century.

"We thought the Cuban people had the right to undergo their own experiment with the fundamental assumption they would respect the rights of other countries of the hemisphere," he said.

No Slaughter

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — "There is not going to be any indiscriminate slaughter of innocent civilians," said Nigerian military leader Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon with his troops closing in on what is left of Biafra. "I want to swear it to God Almighty."

Gowon appeared at a news conference yesterday to discuss the 14-month-old civil war, which appears to be nearing an end. He said he has ordered his troops to avoid any last-stand bloodbath of civilians. He also said they have been ordered not to harm any European or North American relief workers in the area.

It is estimated that some 6 million persons are crowded into an area of 5,000 square miles — all that is left of Biafra, which once covered 29,000 square miles of eastern Nigeria.

Priests Fined

BILBAO, Spain (AP) — Eight priests have been fined from $143 to $535 for taking part in antigovernment demonstrations. Among them was Rev. Anastasio Olavarria Aguirre, one of the 12 members of the Advisory Commission on Socio-Pastoral Affairs for the Bilbao diocese. He was fined $357.

Dogs Face Death

ROME (AP) — Last week Naples executed 327 dogs for the sake of health. This week Rome is threatening to gas hundreds of canines for the sake of money.

The Ministry of Health has announced that collection of taxes for dogs in the province of Rome, including strays taken in by the kindhearted, will be strictly enforced. All dogs for which no tax has been paid in the next 10 days will be gassed, the ministry said.

Taxes vary depending on the quality of the dog. For those of pedigree it can run to 5,000 lire—$8-a year. For most mixed breeds it is low, about 1,000 lire.

HONG KONG (AP) — The British government of Hong Kong released two leading Communists from a camp for political prisoners yesterday, the same day the Chinese Communist government granted exit visas to four British citizens in Peking. Hong Kong officials denied there was any connection.

The British Foreign Office announced that Peking had granted exit visas to the British Mission's second secretary, Leonard Appleyard, his wife, and their two children.

Lau Man-shing, a ranking member of the Communist water works employes' union, and Tam Bun, a member of the Communist Anti-British Persecution Committee, were released from the Victoria detention camp.

Ask Leniency

NEW YROK (AP) — Columbia University officials, in an effort to insure campus calm this fall, have asked the courts to drop criminal trespass charges against some 400 students arrested during last spring's demonstrations.

In a statement issued yesterday, the school said it would "request the courts to exercise maximum leniency, including immediate dismissal of criminal trespass charges, if the court deems it necessary."

William E. Petersen, chairman of the board of trustees, said the trustees hoped the step "will help alleviate the tensions arising out of the arrests and charges and pave the way for effective action."

Students Fight About Exams

Members of a student action committee, which opposed the examination system, sought to convince other students to boycott the exams at the science school.

Fist fights broke out between the opposition students and school guards, but despite the trouble, Education Ministry officials said that about 89 per cent of the students took their tests normally.

Freeway Is Rather Gooey After Fire

YERMO (AP) — By the time state patrolman Troy Richmond could pull over the burning truck loaded with 13,000 packages of cheese in cellophane, the trail of molten cheese stretched for 15 miles.

A faulty gear was blamed for the truck fire yesterday on the Barstow freeway.

WAR — A youngster ventures close to a South Vietnamese soldier as the child's village, Hoc Mon, on the outskirts of Saigon, is searched for Viet Cong suspects. In Saigon, terrorists hit a school, spraying bullets in an attack that killed one teacher. (UPI Telephoto).

Viet Cong Terrorists Kill Teacher

SAIGON (UPI)—Three young Viet Cong terrorists today burst into one of Saigon's largest schools and sprayed a hail of bullets into the faculty dining room, killing one teacher and wounding three others. They fled while terror-stricken students look on.

The daring noontime assault in Dan Trung High School in Saigon's Cholon district was the first major terrorist incident since last weekend when Viet Cong launched a wave of attacks that left 12 persons dead and another 80 injured in the capital.

Two 16-year-old students who witnessed the attack told UPI the youthful terrorists, wearing slacks, white shirts and sunglasses vaulted a schoolyard wall and moved directly to the dining room, apparently familiar with the layout.

They said two guarded a rear entrance while a third pumped Chinese K54 pistol bullets with icy calm into the teachers bent over their lunchtime bowls of rice.

The South Vietnamese government released figures showing Viet Cong terrorists last week killed 121 civilians, wounded 265 and kidnaped three in raids throughout the country.

The figures showed 375 South Vietnamese troops were killed in action during the week, 1,081 wounded and 60 missing in action. They reported 1,644 Communists were killed and 109 captured in the same period.

Kaiser Heads Housing Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson has named Edgar F. Kaiser to head a new, privately financed group with the goal of helping private industry build 600,000 low income units annually in the next decade.

Johnson named Kaiser, chairman of the board of Kaiser, Inc., to the job yesterday as he dedicated a new headquarters for the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Department in a futuristic building in the heart of Washington's urban renewal area.

The private program, called the National Housing Partnership, was created under a provision of the Housing Act of 1968 to get business interested in building more low income housing.

PARATROOPER

General, Nurse Met, Were Killed In War

SAIGON (AP) — Brig. Gen. Truong Quang An and the army nurse he married met in 1954 when she parachuted to the battlefield where he was a captain.

The nurse, Duong Thi Kim Thanh, was celebrated as the first woman in South Vietnam to win a paratrooper's wings. She had made many combat jumps and jumped in several exhibitions in Saigon at a time when such activity was rare for a Vietnamese woman.

On Sunday, Gen. An and his wife were killed when his helicopter was shot down near the Duc Lap Special Forces camp. The general's two American advisers and the American pilot and copilot of the helicopter were also killed.

"They met in the air and they died in the air," said Mrs. An's uncle, Information Minister Ton That Thien. "She was an amazing girl and we were proud of her—we were proud of both of them."

Mrs. An was the daughter of a fairly well-to-do family in Thanh Hoa Province, in North Vietnam. An came from a poor family in the South but excellent grades at the military academy and hard work advanced his career.

After they met, she continued to serve as a paratroop nurse.

"In those days there were no helicopters, you just jumped in," a member of the family said.

The Geneva agreement divided Vietnam in mid-1954 and brought peace temporarily. The young couple were married in a Roman Catholic ceremony in 1955 and had three children, the oldest now 11 years old.

As An rose slowly in rank, his wife busied herself with social work. She was active in an association caring for orphans and chairman of another organization aiding families of soldiers killed in the war.

Marine Regiment Leaving Vietnam Battle For Home

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — The first American unit to leave Vietnam—the 27th Marine Regiment—started back to the United States today, but nearly half of its men are staying behind to fight with other outfits.

As the first 100 officers and men waited for their plane to Okinawa, the 1st Marine Division band played "California, Here I Come." The departing Leathernecks laughed and shuffled their feet impatiently on the airstrip. It was the second time most of them had left Vietnam.

"Man, am I happy to get out of here," said Sgt. Jim Blake, 25, of Shreveport, La.

The regiment was thrown into the war in February at the height of the Viet Cong's Tet offensive. Its battalions fought near Hue and south of Da Nang. The 27th was assigned to war duty temporarily, and the 1st Brigade of the Army's 5th Mechanized Division has arrived to replace it.

In nearly seven months of combat, the 4,500-man regiment claimed 2,000 of the enemy killed, 25 prisoners and 463 captured weapons. The regiment lost 292 dead and handed out 1,900 Purple Hearts for battlefield wounds.

"I'd say 21 months here is quite enough," said second timer Cpl. Bruce Finley, 22, of Newton, Mass.

"This was my second time here," said 21-year-old Sgt. Dennis Bier of Union City, Calif. "It's time we stepped aside and gave some of these younger troopers a chance."

Czechs Sign Gas Pact With Russ In Midst Of Political Maneuvers

PRAGUE (AP) — Premier Oldrich Cernik flew to Moscow today and signed an agreement on the delivery of natural gas to Czechoslovakia and a protocol "on other economic issues," the news agency CTK reported.

The agreement was signed by Cernik and Soviet Premier Alexis N. Kosygin, the agency added.

There was no detail on the economic protocol but CTK said the Russians agreed to delivery of natural gas to Czechoslovakia "for many years" and to "cooperation in the construction of a gas pipeline on Soviet territory."

Cernik was believed to have gone to Moscow to seek help to offset the economic setback resulting from the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Czechoslovaks for some time have sought a big loan from the Soviet Union, and the Russians have also half promised compensation for all damages caused by the invasion.

The Czechoslovak Communist party newspaper Rude Pravo said yesterday that the "arrival of foreign troops paralyzed production in heavy industry." It estimated production losses during the first week of the occupation at more than $227 million.

Rude Pravo complained that the Soviet Union and some of its hard-line allies did not meet their obligation to supply certain raw materials to Czechoslovakia.

Meanwhile, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov returned to Prague after a visit to Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia. A report that his talks with Slovak Communist party chief Gustav Husak had been "cordial" raised the prospect that Moscow has bigger things in mind for Husak.

The report by the official news agency CTK gave no details, but the term "cordial" indicated Kuznetsov and Husak found common ground.

This contrasted with the official description of "frank and comradely"—meaning disagreement—used for Kuznetsov's talks with Ondrej Klokoc, chairman of the Slovak National Council, and earlier with President Ludvik Svoboda, Premier Cernik and national Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek.

Kuznetsov came to Czechoslovakia Friday amid complaints in the Soviet press that liberal Czechoslovak leaders were not moving swiftly enough to conform to Moscow's demands that the liberal reforms of the past months be rolled back.

Youths Hurl Rocks, Bottles

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Small groups of Negro youths roamed a section of the South Side for more than seven hours last night and early today, hurling rocks, bottles and debris at passing automobiles.

Four persons were reported injured in the outburst that came in an area hit by a similar, but brief, disturbance Sunday.

Police used tear gas Sunday to disperse a crowd of about 200 demonstrators. None was used in the latest trouble and officers generally avoided any direct confrontations with the jeering youths.

Flexible Physical Ed Program Is Approved

A flexible physical education program for three ungraded classes at Old Mill School was approved last night by the Mill Valley School District board.

The new program is the first established in the district following enactment in May of legislation giving school boards more control over curriculum and modifying the previous requirement of 20 minutes of physical education each day to a minimum of 200 minutes every two weeks.

The Old Mill School program, requested by Principal David W. Erskine calls for 20 minutes of physical education on Monday and Wednesday, 30 minutes on Tuesday and Friday and none on Thursday. It applies only to the classes of Mrs. Jan Berelson, Mrs. Linda Chitenden and Howard Harrison who will be team teaching a group of third-fifth grade students in the school auditorium.

Erskine told the board the students will have folk dancing, rhythms and yoga on Monday, physical fitness on Wednesday and team sports on Tuesday and Friday.

The board authorized Supt. James A. Collins to approve future physical education program modifications without board ratification.

The Mill Valley School District Board Also:

BOND ISSUE — Unanimously agreed to support the Tamalpais High School District's $10.9 million bond issue to finance new high school construction and additions and repairs to existing high schools.

PARENTS MEET — Agreed to invite new parents in the district to meet with the board at 7 p.m. Sept. 23, preceeding the regular board meeting tentatively scheduled for 8 p.m. at Old Mill School.

Lighted Sign Approved In Novato

A 4-by-81-foot illuminated sign for Grant Auto Store on Highway 101 at Vallejo Avenue in Novato was approved last night by the Novato Planning Commission.

The commission continued until a Sept. 23 meeting consideration of the request by Harold Butler Enterprises Inc. for a 96-square-foot free-standing sign 20 feet high, according to Assistant Planninng Director Warren Baker.

The commission set 8 p.m. Sept. 23 for consideration of a change in the zoning ordinance requiring one and one-half off-street parking spaces for each bedroom in an apartment and two spaces for each single family home. The present law requires one and one-half spaces per apartment and one space per single family home, Baker said.

The commission set 8 p.m. Oct. 14 for consideration of an ordinance which would grant a use permit for a mobile home park in single family residential areas. At the same time, it will consider an amendment to the sign ordinance allowing small signs within shopping centers of four or more businesses, according to Baker.

Panther Center Hit; Policemen Suspended

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Two police officers were suspended today after 12 carbine shots were fired into the Black Panthers headquarters in west Oakland, police said.

Police Chief Charles Gain said two patrolmen "have been implicated in the shooting and have been suspended at my direction pending further investigation."

He identified the suspended officers as Richard Williams and Robert Farrell.

Bullets repeatedly pierced the four-by-five-foot window in the two-story stucco building, striking posters pasted to it of Eldridge Cleaver and Huey Newton, leaders of the militant Negro organization.

The shots came two days after Newton, the Panthers' founder, was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting death of a white policeman John Frey. He had been charged with murder.

Because the area was deserted, no one was injured, either at the headquarters or in Tea's Cafe next door where a window also was pierced by a bullet.

Riddled by bullets was a poster of Newton sitting in a wide-backed wicker chair and holding a spear upright in his left hand and a rifle in his right.

Black Panthers reported that witnesses had told them the headquarters on Grove Street were fired on between 1:15 a.m. and 1:30 a.m. Panthers said the bullets were from a .30-caliber carbine.

Gain said the two suspended patrolmen had been on duty at the time of the shooting but he did not know where they had been stationed.

Ora Sanders, a spokesman for the Panthers, said witnesses had seen a police car from which the shots were fired and that they obtained part of a license plate number.

Tom Jones, who identified himself as a Black Panther, said the Negro area had been heavily patroled by police ever since the militant Negro's conviction.

Students Smash Furniture Over Housing Demand

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Police arrested more than 300 Negro students at the University of Illinois today after the students smashed furniture in Illini Union lounges and refused to leave until officials discussed housing demands with them.

Those arrested were charged with criminal trespass for refusal to vacate the south addition of the student union after the midnight closing time.

University Chancellor J. W. Peltason said representatives of his office attempted in a meeting last night with the students to dissuade them.

When it became clear that the climate of the meeting was such that the demands could not be discussed in a reasonable manner, Peltason said in a statement early today, he reluctantly agreed to order police to move in and "with the minimum force necessary" arrest those refusing to leave.

Marin CHP Sends Men To Oakland

Forty California Highway Patrol officers from Marin County served on the streets of Oakland last night as part of a precautionary force moved into that city after the conviction of Black Panther Huey P. Newton for voluntary manslaughter Sunday night.

The Marin County force, led by CHP Capt. Theodore F. Parnow, moved into Oakland at 4 p.m. yesterday. Parnow said his men were called for at 6 a.m. yesterday.

Deputy Police Chief Robert Cazard of Oakland confirmed that his department had called for outside assistance as a precautionary measure. He declined to state the number of men or agencies involved.

The highway patrolmen were apparently the only officers from Marin assigned to the East Bay city. Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, who coordinates requests for aid from Marin, said he has received no such request from Oakland.

Captain Parnow said yesterday's assignment caused him to cancel days off for all of his officers. All off-duty officers were called to work, he said.

Giraffes sleep only a few hours a night, usually with their heads held erect.

suggestion that Hanoi is willing to match that gesture in any degree."

As commander-in-chief of the armed forces, Johnson went over some of the hard facts he confronts and listed three choices on what could be done.

He said the first would be to invade North Vietnam, overrun military positions and throttle supply routes in the country and "this we do not wish to do."

Retreat, he said, would be the second choice—the withdrawal of forces from below the demilitarized zone separating north from south and turning over South Vietnam to the North Vietnamese.

He said: "This we shall not do."

The third choice has been accepted, Johnson said, and he described it this way:

"We can bring our air power to bear in the panhandle against the artillery fired on our men, and against the enemy troops and supplies coming through."

This, he said, is exacting a substantial price from the enemy and limiting his capacity to bring weight against U.S. and allied forces in the panhandle. A halt to bombing, Johnson contended, would let the enemy build up its military capacity and its power to hurt U.S. forces would increase greatly.

Casualties, he said, would go up greatly.

That, he said, is why he insists the bombing will not stop until the United States is confident it will not lead to higher casualties.

"So, I appeal to you to support peace by maintaining strength— by refusing to sacrifice principle, by standing as firm at home as our men stand abroad," Johnson told the Legionnaires.

Concerning his thoughts on Czechoslovakia and the recent ominous rumors about a possible Soviet invasion of Romania, Johnson said at one point:

"We have a right to expect Europe to do more—in its own defense and in facing common problems in other regions of the world."

ARRESTS

and Hosea L. Williams, political director of SCLC.

Also jailed was Morton Shapiro, regional representative of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union. He has been negotiating with the city on behalf of the strikers after their local and district officers termed the strike illegal.

The demonstrators were arrested at the gate of a driveway as they blocked a garbage truck leaving the sanitation department. They were charged with "failure to move when blocking a driveway."

The strike went into its eighth day with new negotiations scheduled on the wage issues. The city asked Fulton County Superior Court for an injunction against strikers interfering with workers who went back to their jobs.

The strikers refused to heed a Monday back-to-work order issued by Mayor Ivan Allen Jr.

Some 200 workers gathered at City Hall Monday to air their grievances before Allen. A spokesman for the strikers told the mayor that they would never accept the city's proposal of a 13 per cent pay raise next January.

A pay schedule released by the mayor's office gave this breakdown of employees and pay: 268 trash collectors, minimum pay $1.67 an hour; 494 garbage collectors, $1.81, and 226 drivers, $2.05 an hour.

Strikers have demanded $2.50 an hour. The city's 13 per cent raise proposal would fall far short of the demand.

Young Cranston Study Ordered

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A 60-day diagnostic study was ordered yesterday for Robin MacGregor Cranston, 20, son of Democratic U.S. Senatorial candidate Alan Cranston.

Cranston, a teacher at a school for retarded children in Los Angeles, had pleaded guilty earlier to charges of failing to pay taxes on two pounds of imported marijuana.

Cranston was arrested March 15 at San Ysidro by customs agents who said they found the marijuana in a car he had driven across the border from Mexico.

Following the study, Cranston will be returned to the court in San Diego for further sentencing.

The Tamalpais Fire Protection District board has changed its regular meetings from the third Thursday to the third Monday each month. However, this month's meeting will be next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Tamalpais Fire Department Station.

are being bussed to white schools, conceded:

"I've run into some problems at home. I am worried a bit. I'm worried about them because I'm not going to be there with them.

"I prepared name tags for them so they wouldn't get lost. I hope more parents do the same since I'm a bus driver and I don't want to misplace anyone."

"This is wonderful," offered Mrs. Natalie Leimkuhler, who saw her children, Kristin, 12; Meg, 10, and Jeanne, 9, onto a bus driven by Mrs. Gwenn Jackson, 25, a Negro who lives in nearby Richmond.

"I know this is going to be an advantage to the children. I wish I had had the same opportunity when I was young."

Mrs. Jackson, who has a 4-year-old son starting to preschool, said, "I think this is going to work. I know the Negro people will be glad to have equal schooling."

"We consider this the first and most thorough of all school integration systems of significant size in the country," said Dr. Dan Freudenthal, coordinator of research and publications for the Berkeley Board of Education.

Berkeley, home of the University of California has about 110,000 residents.

Junior and senior high schools were integrated in Berkeley four years ago. Controversy that ensued at the start of desegregation plans has been overcome, Freudenthal said.

Some 9,000 grade school children attend Berkeley schools—41 per cent Negro, about 50 per cent white, the rest Oriental and other races. Ultimately, all the pupils will be involved in the busing, since during some periods the children will live close enough to their assigned schools to walk, while at other times their schools will require a bus.

$3,600 In Equipment Is Stolen

Office machines worth $3,600 were taken in a weekend burglary at Ames Ford, 619 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, police reported.

Taken were a $1,100 bookkeeping machine, a $1,041 copying machine, a $595 calculator and three adding machines valued at $864.

The burglary occurred between Friday and 8 a.m. yesterday. There was no sign of forced entry.

In another incident, bedroom dresser drawers were ransacked by someone who removed a screen and climbed in an unlocked window at the home of Charles I. Daniels, 196 Deer Park Avenue, Fairfax, sometime between3 p.m. and 7:50 p.m. Saturday, police said, but nothing appeared to have been taken.

Maureen E. Harris, 15 Bayview Drive, Larrkspur, reported a $20 chafing dish, a $24 toaster and a $100 est of dishes were taken from her home sometime this summer. There was no sign of forced entry, police said.

Youth Pleads Guilty To LSD Charge

Thomas Allen Veatch, 18, of Mill Valley, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court Thursday to a misdemeanor charge of possessing LSD in Sausalito Aug. 26.

A felony charge of selling LSD on the same date was dismissed. Veatch's bail was reduced to $500 and he was ordered to appear at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 26 for sentencing.

Clark Calls For Strict Gun Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark called today for strict gun control laws, saying those who "quibble about the inconvenience of registration and licensing, knowing lives are at stake, cannot be much concerned about life or crime either."

In a letter hand-carried this morning to each member of the Senate, Clark said if Congress "really wants to do something to control crime, it will enact a comprehensive gun control bill now."

Saying there probably are more than 100 million privately owned firearms in the country, the attorney general wrote, "We should have acted years ago. Control will take years to effect. Uncontrolled, guns constitute a clear and present danger to the safety of the nation."

Clark said 20,000 Americans will be shot to death either intentionally or accidentally this year. Reinforcing his contention that the gun "is the principal and the most dangerous weapon of the criminal," Clark reported 7,600 Americans were murdered with guns last year.

He said the real question before the Senate is not whether gun control legislation can reduce crime and save lives, adding: "We know it can.

"The question is whether our system of government will address itself to the issues that must be faced if we are to survive as a free and great people," he contended.

He said those who raise the specter of government disarming law abiding citizens and then subjecting them to tyranny "have no faith in our system of government or our people and fail to recognize our broad experience of effective registration and licensing of both dangerous and publically important possessions and transactions."

"Those who stridently call for law and order, yet oppose or ignore gun controls, fail to face the issues, fail to protect the public and raise questions as to their own purposes," Clark said.

Shots Fired At Candidate On Ranch

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Shots were fired at a nominee for Congress as he visited a hippie haven at nearby Graton Saturday night, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Donald W. Graham, Democratic nominee in the First Congressional District, told deputies that one of the three shots came so close "I could hear it zing."

Graham, 32, said he and his secretary, Marie Cascio, 31, of San Francisco, went to the Morning Star Ranch to inspect the controversial haven, which has been ordered closed by Sonoma County officials.

Graham said he and Miss Cascio went to the ranch at about 7:30 p.m., and that the shots were fired as they returned to his car about a half hour later. He also reported that a car window was smashed, and a watermelon and other groceries worth $3 stolen.

Siemens Still In Hospital

Dr. John H. Siemens, president of the Tamalpais High School District Board, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Ross General Hospital, where he has been a patient since suffering a heart attack Thursday.

Hospital officials said that Siemens, who lives at 10 Turnagain Road, Kentfield, is not allowed phone calls or visitors. They said he is in the intensive care unit for rest and observation.

Siemens, 55, is administrator of Ross hospital, heads the Ross Valley Clinic and at one time was executive director of the new Tamalpais Retirement Home.

Siemens is also a director of Redwood National Bank.

Kennedy Returns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy returned to Capitol Hill today for the first time since the June assassination of his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

CATCH

back of a mobile home, being towed by an elderly couple, officers said.

He dove through the window of his car and down a steep bank, into thick brush, they said. The deputies gave chase.

At the bottom of the hill, Spurrell fired a warning shot and the 15-year-old surrendered, officers said.

The boy was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts and scratches, suffered in the brush, before being booked at Juvenile Hall.

Back in Tiburon, another deputy stopped a car in which Melvin White had hitched a ride. He had been sought for a week in connection with the attempted robbery and shooting of Diller Ryan, 18, of Ross.

Ryan was shot in the shoulder when he and a friend, sitting in their parked car in Marin City, were held up by two youths.

When one of the would-be robbers waved a gun, Ryan grappled with him and the weapon went off. Ryan was not seriously hurt.

Deputies said White also matched the description of one of the men seen in Marinwood. He was also booked on suspicion of burglary. He was jailed in lieu of $9,375 bail.

In the car, abandoned by the 15-year-old on the freeway, officers reported finding watches from the Marinwood burgiary as well as five other burglaries in San Rafael, Sausalito, Corte Madera and Tiburon. They also found a .22 caliber revolver.

White was to appear in Municipal Court this afternoon.

White was arrested July 27, 1967, on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder after he allegedly fired four or five shots at a passing patrol car in Marin City.

A deputy shot White in the hip that night, hospitalizing him.

A month earlier, White was involved in an incident at Juvenile Hall which caused a group counselor, Francis M. Griffin, to quit the county probation office.

Griffin charged that White hit him over the head with a metal pitcher. He said he resigned because probation department administrators refused to back him up and discipline White.

When the pitcher incident brought White befofe Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, the jurist released the youth on condition that he do weekend work, such as cleaning up along the highways.

Walter Busher, head of the county probation department, said today that White is contesting a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, stemming from his arrest for suspicion of sniping.

A hearing on the charge was held in April, Busher said. The hearing was continued when testimony was not completed. A new date has not been set, he said.

Couple Injured As Car Swerves

An Oakland couple was reported in good condition today at Petaluma General Hospital after their car swerved off Highway 101 near Novato yesterday and hit a car stopped on the shoulder, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said the car driven by Kimiye L. Kendall, 31, swerved from the highway at 5:20 p.m. then hit a car owned by Mario E. Slaben of South San Francisco, who had pulled off to change a flat tire.

Kendall had a broken right arm and Mrs. Kendall had broken ribs, the hospital said. Slaben was to see his own doctor for a scrape on the left check.

Firehouse Plan Is Accepted

Preliminary plans for a new firehouse were accepted by the Bolinas Fire Protection District board last night, according to secretary Timothy J. Waters.

Bids for the structure, which would be 60 by 54 feet and cost about $30,000, will be let after a site is acquired.

The new firehouse was deemed necessary because traffic sometimes blocks the present one downtown. Waters said the board is negotiating for a suitable site.

Bail Is Reduced In Marijuana Case

Alfred Conrad Ulmer, 21, of San Anselmo, won a reduction in bail to $250 today in Marin Superior Court. Ulmer is charged with possessing marijuana Sept. 1 in Fairfax.

Bail had been set at $1,250, which Ulmer was unable to raise. He was ordered to appear Monday to plead to the charge.

PUEBLO

is being informed as a matter of policy about the course of the negotiations with the North Korean representatives.

Another meeting between the American and North Korean representatives is due to be held later this week.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, at a congressional briefing session, said there was nothing to indicate the release of the Pueblo and the men was imminent.

"Reports to that effect have been coming out of Japan," he told newsmen after the briefing with a House Appropriations subcommittee, "but I do not know of anything to substantiate them."

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the committee, said Clifford expressed the same view to the committee.

"I do think they will be released," said Mahon. "They should have been released a long time ago. But the exact date is not known to the committee nor, in my opinion, to the Defense Department."

The State Department spokesman, McCloskey, expressed interest in reports that the Pueblo crewmen will be made available to a group of Communist bloc newsmen at a news conference.

He said he would like to see American newsmen also be given an opportunity to talk to the crew.

According to Wickersham the North Koreans have demanded that the United States pay reparations for what they claim are 91,000 violations of the Korean armistice.

No Passport Halts Sailing Of Phoenix

NAGASAKI, Japan (AP) — Officials of the Maritime Safety Agency said today they have taken into custody American pacifist Dr. Earle Reynolds and his Japanese wife after they sailed their 30-ton yacht Phoenix out of Japanese territorial waters for Communist China.

Customs officials said Akie, 26-year-old wife of Dr. Reynolds of Yellow Springs, Ohio, would be questioned on charges of illegal departure because they said she did not carry a passport.

Spokesmen said a safety agency patrol boat trailed the Phoenix and repeatedly warned the yacht not to sail out of Japanese territorial waters.

Reynolds, they said, violated Japanese law because he knowingly assisted his wife in illegally leaving Japan.

Officials said his wife could not be issued a passport for her trip because she has not received entry approval from Communist China.

The Phoenix drew international attention early in 1967 when a crew of Quakers sailed it from Japan to Haiphong with a cargo of medical supplies for civilian casualties in North Vietnam in the face of threatened fines and imprisonment.

Aboard the yacht on that controversial trip was Phillip Drath of San Rafael, now a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth District.

Plea Of Innocent In Morals Case

Kenneth Wayne Bailey, 19, of Fairfax, pleaded innocent today in Marin Superior Court to charges of robbery, lewd and lascivious acts with a child and committing an unnatural sex act, all on July 20 in Fairfax.

Jury trial was set for the week of Oct. 28.

Housewife Receives Transplant

STANFORD (AP) — Surgeons at Stanford University Medical Center gave a new heart yesterday to Virginia Asche of Los Altos Hills, the first heart transplant performed at the center on a woman.

The condition of the 48-year-old housewife was reported satisfactory after a four and one-half hour operation completed about noon.

A hospital spokesman said the heart donor had died of irreversible brain damage.

The donor's name was not made public.

Mrs. Asche and her husband, Charles, are childless.

The hospital reported its two other heart transplant patients making steady progress. They are Leonard Drake, 42, of Eugene, Ore., and Robert O. McKee, 51, of Palo Alto. Both received new hearts last month.

Lines Fail To Contain Forest Fire

-By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sheets of flame jumped across fire lines yesterday in a massive three-day-old forest fire which roared across 6,500 acres of brush and timberland in and near the San Bernardino National Forest.

In Los Angeles County, three new fires broke out.

The shift of the San Bernardino blaze into the northwest section of the forest was a setback for 1,000 firemen battling flames. But the California Division of Forestry declared the fire 50 per cent contained in spite of the new problem.

"We are trying to hold the fire at one road in the forest now," said a spokesman for the division. But he said there was still no estimate of when the fire might be contained.

Six aerial tankers bombarded the blaze with fire retardant chemicals from the air. Among those manning fire lines were crews from neighboring Oregon, Arizona, Washington and six Indian fire crews from New Mexico.

Local fire crews from San Bernardino County communities were at the scene along with men from 14 of the 17 national forests in California. Operations were directed by the U.S. Forest Service, the California Division of Forestry and California Division of Conservation.

In Los Angeles County, where a heat wave pushed temperatures above the 100 degree mark, three separate fires sprang up and were reported moving fast across brush and partly developed areas near the San Fernando Valley.

The first fire, in Little Tujunga Canyon, six miles northwest of the residential San Fernando Valley, had burned 500 acres by late afternoon yesterday. Flames were visible from nearby Burbank. A team of 200 fire fighters were on the scene with 33 trucks, and the Los Angeles County Fire Department called in another 200.

Another fire in the Soledad Sands, Bootlegger Canyon area, 12 miles southwest of Palmdale, burned 200 acres by afternoon and was being battled by 100 men and 17 engines.

THE POLITICAL SCENE

Humphrey Sees A Shift In Vietnam Negotiations

COMBINED AP and UPI

Herbert H. Humphrey predicted today that "substantial negotiations" to settle the Vietnam War would begin before a new administration takes office.

In a carefully guarded response to newsmen's questions, the vice president replied, "Yes, I think so" when asked whether he felt there would be any real negotiations before January. He declined to elaborate.

Humphrey's remarks came in a post midnight news conference aboard his chartered jet which brought him to Los Angeles—the last stop in a grueling cross country trip that opened his campaign for the presidency.

Humphrey was continuing the pace today with a full schedule of appearances here and in Houston, Tex.

In his meeting with newsmen, Humphrey knocked down two startling statements he made concerning the war earlier yesterday.

In Philadelphia at the start of his trek, Humphrey told a youthful audience in a question and answer session that he thought "some" troops could be withdrawn from Vietnam late this year or early in 1969.

But Humphrey said later he was just echoing predictions made earlier by Defense Secretary Clark Clifford and Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

In Denver, at another free-wheeling question and answer session, Humphrey said he could have run for the presidency on a Democratic party platform advocating the unconditional cessation of bombing in North Vietnam.

But, again, in his airplane meeting with newsmen, Humphrey qualified the statements which had appeared at first to be an outright break with the administration. Standing in the galley of the plane, the shirtsleeved vice president said, "I am not changing my position." He said he would have accepted the minority plank but would have felt free to make an "elaboration" of his own position.

"I am not in favor of unconditional cessation," Humphrey said. "I have made that clear." The bombing, he said, cannot end until there is "some restraint and some response" from North Vietnam.

In his first campaign swing Humphrey waded into sometimes hostile crowds with exuberant, handshaking forays that ignited the faithful but failed to mute the dissidents.

When he arrived at Los Angeles, a brief scuffle involving one youthful protester occurred almost at Humphrey's feet and he had to jump back to avoid being shoved over.

Other developments:

Richard M. Nixon—While the GOP presidential candidate worked on strategy in New York, his national political director, Robert Ellsworth, accused Humphrey of irresponsible doubletalk in the Vice President's address Sunday to a Jewish service group. He said by using terms such as "white extremists" and "black revolutionaries" in a speech to B'nai B'rith, Humphrey was "seeking to exploit the fears and tensions of the American people."

In another development announced yesterday he will return to California this weekend to continue his quest for California's 40 presidential electoral votes.

The Republican presidential nominee will appear at an airport rally late Saturday at Santa Barbara, at a rally Monday in Anaheim, on statewide television next Tuesday, and will give a speech in Fresno at noon Wednesday.

Although he won't be in the state, Nixon will appear at three simultaneous $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinners Thursday night.

The dinners will be held in San Diego, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Nixon will address all three by closed circuit television.

George C. Wallace — Third party presidential candidate Wallace called off a Washington news conference scheduled for today. He had been expected to announce the name of his running mate. Speculation it might be Kentuckian A. B. (Happy) Chandler, former governor, senator and baseball commissioner, was dispelled by reports the two could not get together on civil rights policy.

Spiro T. Agnew—The Republican vice presidential candidate was meeting with Negro Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., in Washington today to iron out their differences on the "law and order" issue, among others. Brooke, who has been campaigning for Nixon, said he did not see eye to eye with Agnew on some issues but their diversion was "not such that I can't wholeheartedly support him."

Edmund Muskie—Humphrey's running mate, campaigning in Las Vegas, said government workers should have a larger voice in their own business. He told a convention of government employees that "I am interested in your proposals for collective bargaining legislation and your call for revision of the Hatch Act," which limits political activity by federal employees.

Edward M. Kennedy — The Massachusetts Senator, returning to active politics for the first time since the assassination June 5 of his brother, Robert, endorsed the Humphrey-Muskie ticket. In a three-stop tour in Massachusetts, Kennedy said Humphrey and Muskie were "the best equipped to provide the kind of programs and plans we need to move this country ahead."

Poll — A telephone survey by Sindlinger & Co., Sept. 5-8 showed Nixon widening his lead over Humphrey, with Wallace gaining ground. Nixon was preferred by 34.6 per cent of those questioned compared with 33.7 per cent in a similar poll Aug. 30 to Sept. 2. Humphrey fell from 28.5 per cent to 26.1 per cent and Wallace rose from 15.7 per cent to 17.4 per cent.

Demo Trio In Race To Face Goldwater

PHOENIX (UPI) — Today's primary election marked the beginning of Barry Goldwater's bid to return to national politics although he faced no opposition from within his party.

Most of the attention was centered not on Goldwater, but on the Democratic ranks where voters were selecting a candidate to face the 1964 GOP presidential nominee in a battle for the U.S. Senate.

Roy Elson, an aide to retiring Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., state tax commissioner Robert Kennedy, and corporation commissioner Dick Herbert vied for the Democratic nod.

Another hotly contested battle was a three-way Democratic race for the gubernatorial nomination.

Former Gov. Sam Goddard, who lost to incumbent Gov. Jack Williams in 1966, University of Arizona professor Currin Shields and Phoenix private investigator Jack Devault competed for their party's nomination. The winner will face Williams, who was unopposed today.

Peanuts grow in 60 Texas counties and were a $44.3 million crop in 1966.

Federal Grand Jury Chicago Probe Set

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury investigation of demonstrations, police action and news converage during the Democratic National Convention has been ordered by Chief Judge William J. Campbell of U.S. District Court.

Judge Campbell yesterday ordered the September grand jury to investigate alleged violations of federal statutes during the convention.

Thomas A. Foran, U.S. district attorney, already had started an investigation, and Judge Campbell ordered him to turn over to the grand jury all information he has accumulated thus far.

"Only the federal grand jury has the total responsibility under our Constitution to hold such a probe," Judge Campbell told the jurors.

"Purely on the information I have read in the press, I find that various people are accused of interstate conspiracy to promote a riot in violation of federal law," he said.

"A second category of charges has been made whereby police officers are accused of violating civil rights of demonstrators in performing duties in quelling riots and returning order," Campbell added.

He said the investigation also would look into possible violation of the federal communications statute by some television networks.

The jury also was directed to investigate charges that a television network, NBC, bugged a closed hearing of the Democratic convention platform committee.

In another development, Mayor Richard J. Daley announced that a one-hour television show prepared to present what he termed "a balance portrayal" of events during the convention will be shown at 9 p.m. Sunday.

Two Injured In Collision

A San Anselmo mother and her daughter were treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday after their car and another collided on the Corte Madera on-ramp to northbound Highway 101, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

The patrol said Mary Hitchcock Cone, 44, of 349 Redwood Road, was entering the freeway at 11:40 behind a car driven by Steve Jay Friend, 17, of 25 Rocklyn Court, Corte Madera, and hit the rear of his car when he slowed.

Mrs. Cone was treated for a cut lip and her daughter Linda, 13, for a cut finger.

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 10, the 254th day of 1968 with 112 days to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Saturn and Venus.

Those born today are under the sign of Virgo. American author Carl Van Doren was born Sept. 10, 1885.

On this day in history:

In 1813, famed American Navy Capt. Oliver Perry defeated a British squadron in the battle of Lake Erie.

In 1962, 44 persons died in the crash of an Air Force jet tanker near Mt. Spokane in Washington State.

A thought for the day—American novelist Thomas Wolfe once said: "Most of the time we think we're sick; its all in the mind."

Slightly Inaccurate Bid May Allow Opponents To Push You

Life would be comfortable if you could always find a "book" bid to describe your hand.

It isn't necessarily fatal to try to make do with a slightly inaccurate bid, but if the opponents pick that moment to push, you may go over the edge.

EXHIBITION MATCH

When today's hand was played last month in an exhibition match in Los Angeles, Dallas expert Bobby Goldman could not find a book bid to describe his strong North hand.

If West had opened with one diamond, North could double; but he could hardly afford a double when he was so unprepared for a diamond response.

ONE NOTRUMP

Goldman settled for an overcall of one notrump, promising 16 to 18 points in high cards (which he had) and balanced distribution (which he didn't). He didn't like the bid, but we don't always get what we like.

WICKED JUMP

Los Angeles expert Don Krauss picked this moment to push the opponents with a jump to four spades on the East hand. He didn't know whether or not his partner could make four spades (he couldn't), but it looked like a good time to rob the opponents of bidding room.

Now it was up to Billy Eisenberg, who had won the Life Master Pair Championship with Goldman at the national tournament just a few weeks earlier. From his point of view, with the South cards, the opponents were probably a cinch to make four spades. He thought five diamonds might be a good sacrifice. It wasn't.

OPENED CLUB

Paul Soloway opened a club from the West hand, took the heart return and continued hearts. Krauss ruffed, returned a spade to the ace and ruffed another heart. Soloway got two more trump tricks, and the penalty was 1400 points.

When a disaster flies around the bridge table looking for somebody to happen to, it is no respecter of rank or fame.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds.

Despite the distributional strength you cannot afford to look for a game in either red suit. The opponents have at least 18 points in high cards and should be able to defeat a game unless partner has a remarkably good fit for diamonds — in which case he should bid over two diamonds.

58,000-Acre Redwood Park Clears Panel

WASHINGTON AP — A 58,000-acre redwood national park including three California state parks and $92 million of private timber land was agreed to yesterday in a House-Senate conference committee.

The compromise bill will be presented to the House Thursday and to the Senate next Monday for final congressional action.

The Senate last year voted to authorize a 64,000-acre park. The House chopped this to 28,500 acres in a separate action this year.

STATE LAND

The 58,000 acres includes 27,468 acres of state park land in Humboldt and Del Norte counties on California's north coast. The compromise calls for the donation of the state park acreage by the state legislature.

Designated direct acquisition — with title to pass to the government as soon as the President signs the bill — would be 28,101 acres of privately owned timber land.

An additional 2,431 acres of private land would be subject to designation for direct acquisition by the Secretary of Interior in fixing the final park boundaries.

Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., of the House Interior Committee, announcing details of the compromise agreement, said development of the park is expected to cost $10 million. But specific monetary authorization would depend upon adoption of a master plan and subsequent congressional action.

EXCHANGE PLAN

The bill would authorize exchange of national forest land in the 14,000-acre Northern Redwood Purchase Unit for private land to be included in the park. An area designated as the Yurok experimental forestry tract in the purchase unit would be excluded from the exchange authority.

Aspinall said the park would include, if California donates state park lands, the Jedediah Smith, Del Norte Coast and Prairie Creek Redwood state parks. Two major units would be connected by a corridor that would include a 33-mile stretch of California ocean beach.

Private lands are to be acquired east and south of Jedediah Smith State Park, in the vicinity of Klamath and south of Prairie Creek State Park.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, said the budgetary consideration dictated exclusion of the area along Skunk Cabbage Creek in Humboldt County. But he said the park will include 32,500 acres of old growth redwoods, including all of the largest and most impressive trees in both the Redwood Creek and Mill Creek drainage basins.

Included, he said, are the Lost Man Creek and Little Lost Man Creek areas, the Emerald Mile on Redwood Creek and two lagoons south of Orick.

"I believe this bill is one of the great conservation achievements of this or any Congress," he said.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., who was not present for the final meeting of the conferees, applauded the compromise in a statement as "a victory for conservation and a victory for the American people now and for generations to come."

He said it preserves the finest remaining specimens of the coast redwood, protects the timber-based economy of the area by spreading federal acquisitions among four companies and two counties, and softens the blow by making some federal timber available as compensation for park quality land.

"Our bill places conservation above politics by encouraging liberal state cooperation, since it does not require California to sign over the state redwood parks as a condition precedent to the creation of the national park," he added.

Despite Welsh Resentment, Charles' Investiture Slated

LONDON (AP) — The British government said today that the investiture of Prince Charles as Prince of Wales will be held on schedule next July 1 despite a wave of bomb explosions by Welsh nationalist extremists.

"What must be made clear is that acts of violence must not be allowed to determine policy," said George Thomas, secretary of state for Wales.

"The investiture will go on—of that have no doubt—because the Welsh people want it to go on."

Detectives combed Wales for the extremists who planted a time bomb yesterday at a Royal Air Force station near the Welsh steel town of Llanelli. The homemade bomb went off when a 45-year-old warrant officer picked it up. It blew off most of his fingers.

It was the fifth blast this year in Wales. Police believe they are the work of a militant group calling itself the Defense Movement for Wales.

The extremists have threatened to sabotage the investiture of the 19-year-old prince at Caernarvon Castle.

Pink Cans May Cost Money

MILWAUKEE, Wis (AP) — The Bureau of Street Sanitation wants to collect $240 from museum director Stephen F. Borhegyi for having painted six sidewalk refuse cans blossom pink.

William J. Rheinfrank, bureau superintendent, said yesterday that Borhegyi had borrowed the six green containers in July for a patio refreshment area at the museum and had them painted.

The cans were to be returned at the end of the summer, but "we can't use them on the street," Rheinfrank told a City Budget Committee. He said the bureau is billing Borhegyi for $40 per can.

Medical Wording

A basic course in medical terminology will begin at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at College of Marin and continue through Dec. 3. The class, to be held in Nursing Lab 3, will be taught by Kay Butler, a registered nurse, with local physicians as guest speakers.

Project Halt Seen If Tax Proposal Wins

Passage of Proposition 9 in the Nov. 5 election (the Watson Amendment) would prevent construction of the next phase of the Sonoma-Marin water supply project, according to Jerome B. Gilbert, North Marin County Water District manager.

This would happen, Gilbert said today, because of the limitation on bond issuance which is part of the proposed amendment.

The Watson Amendment would, over a five-year period, remove all support for schools and welfare ("people-oriented services") from the property tax rolls, and would limit the amount that could be levied for other purposes to a total of 1 per cent of market value of property.

MARKET LIMITS

Also, it would place a limit of 5 per cent of market value or 20 per cent of assessed value on the bonded indebtedness that could be placed against any property. This limit would include bonds for school districts, cities, and water districts.

The proposed project to bring additional water to the North Marin District could not be financed feasibly without a bond issue, said Gilbert. And because of the heavy bonded indebtedness of taxing districts in Novato (particularly the school district and water district), the necessary issue would exceed the limits under the proposed amendment.

The result, he said, would be "an arbitrary restriction on the growth of Marin County or a radical increase (50 to 100 per cent) in water charges to accumulate funds to put the next supply project on a pay-as-you go basis."

BIG BURDEN

Gilbert, in a memorandum prepared for the Irrigation Districts Association of California, said the proposed tax and bond limitation "would place a tremendous financial burden on homeowners and mean a curtailment or elimination of new construction."

This would occur, he said, because the tax load would be shifted from owners of industrial properties and undeveloped land onto home owners. The 1 per cent tax limitation would relieve industrial owners and those holding undeveloped property from much of their tax share. The loss would have to be made up from such things as increases in sales tax or water rates.

"Since most businesses and industrial enterprises are not heavy water users, the property tax (for water districts) actually benefits the homeowner," Gilbert contended. "If all water charges were collected on a pay-as-you-go basis, the homeowner would suffer, while cost to business, industry and land speculators would be reduced."

Named outstanding teacher

Drake High Teacher One Of Best

W. Keith MacNab, head of the science department at Sir Francis Drake High School, San Anselmo, is one of six winners in a national competition for high school chemistry teachers, it was announced last night at an American Chemical Society meeting in Atlantic City, N.J.

MacNab will receive the $1,000 James Bryant Conant Award at the society's meeting in May.

MacNab has been on the faculty at Sir Francis Drake since 1951, except from June 1961 to June 1963 when he was at the University of California at Berkeley on the staff of a national high school chemistry curriculum study.

A native of Kingcardine, Ontario, MacNab is a graduate of U.C., Berkeley, and taught at Vallejo before joining the faculty at Sir Francis Drake.

At Drake he is the sponsor of the science club and also serves as a judge for local science fairs.

MacNab was selected as the outstanding chemistry teacher in a 16-state area.

MacNab, his wife, Madeline, and son, Ian Keith, 12, live at 10 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo.

Deer shed their summer coats and grow special ones for winter.

Liars Dice Tourney For Boys' Club

An off-beat liars dice tournament complete with referee in striped shirt and whistle will run today through Sept. 30 at Gatsby's in Sausalito.

The tournament, held from 2 to 6 p.m. daily at the 39 Caledonia Street pub, will benefit the Boy's Club of Southern Marin in Marin City.

Each contestant will pay an entry fee which will be used to purchase equipment and expand the boys club program.

The tournament will be similar to a tennis tournament, in structure only, with winners of each match playing off until the ultimate liars dice champion has emerged, according to Charles Peet, Gatsby's owner.

As in tennis, contestants must win a minimum of six games and by a margin of two games to win the set and must take two out of three sets to win the match.

A referee will watch over the proceedings, presumably to interpret the complicated and obscure liars dice regulations.

The first four winners will receive embossed leather dice cups and special prizes, made by the boys' club members, will be presented to the top 20 winners.

"This way the kids are contributing to the tournament, rather than just getting the money," Peet said.

Cars Collide; Women Injured

Two women were treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday after a three-car collision on Highway 101 near the south on-ramp from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Gladys Little, 48, of 21 Belle Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated for a whiplash injury and Judith Marie McKean, 21, of Berkeley, was treated for a cut nose.

The accident occurred, the patrol said, at 7:55 a.m. when Miss McKean's car hit the rear of a car driven by Frank Warren Donahoo, 29, of 39 Ross Street, Apt. 1, San Rafael. Donahoo's car then hit the rear of Mrs. Little's car.

UNRUH AGAIN SPEAKER OF THE ASSEMBLY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Jesse M. Unruh has been re-elected to a job he has held for seven years — speaker of the Assembly.

On a straight party-line vote of 42-35, the Assembly voted yesterday to retain Unruh, an Inglewood Democrat, in its No. 1 job. He defeated Assembly Republican Leader Robert T. Monagan of Tracy.

Nuclear Treaty Action Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee was unable to act today on a move for quick approval of treaty when a scheduled meeting failed to draw a quorum.

Acting Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., called a new meeting for tomorrow.

Only six of the 19 members showed up for today's meeting.

Assembly Demos Fail To Turn Back Vetoes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Democrats in the Assembly have been turned back in their first major attempt this year to break a 22-year-old tradition.

They lined up six items yesterday as prime targets for overriding Gov. Reagan's vetoes, and despite one nearly perfect shot, they were defeated all six times.

Not since 1946 has a California Legislature gathered the required two-thirds vote in both houses to override a governor's veto.

At one point yesterday, an assemblyman managed to gather the required 54 votes to overturn acting Gov. Hugh Burns' veto of a bill which would pass on to elderly welfare recipients a $7.50-a-month cost-of-living increase in Social Security benefits voted last year by Congress.

But before the vote could be announced, Republican leaders called a caucus and four Republicans changed their votes. The final vote was 50-28 — four short of the majority required to overrule the governor.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, who said the fact that he was the author led to the veto of the measure, failed in his attempt to override Reagan's veto of his bill to create a pilot project to train law enforcement officers in dealing with civil disorder and racial unrest.

"I really can see no reason whatsoever for the governor to veto this bill," Unruh said, "except that it has my name on it. I really wish I could erase my name from this bill so it would wipe out any partisan consideration when you vote on this bill."

Peace Corps Post For Eric Hoffer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eric Hoffer, San Francisco's longshoreman philosopher, and Thomas Bradley, a Los Angeles councilman, have been named to the new Peace Corps National Advisory Council.

President Johnson announced new appointments to the 25-member council yesterday. All members serve without compensation.

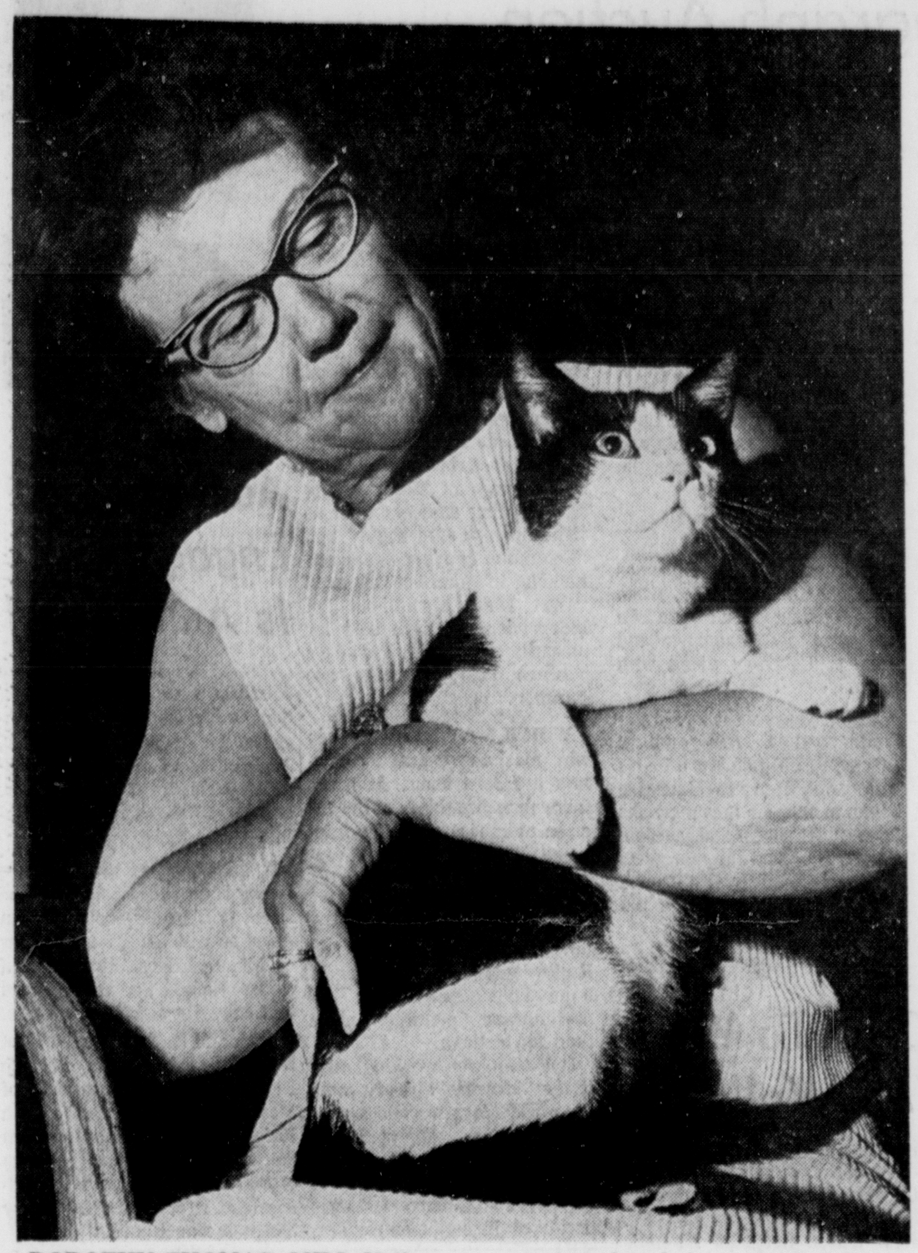
Librarian Promotes Projects



DOROTHY THOMAS, MILL Valley librarian since 1950, encourages an informal, home-like atmosphere in the beautiful two-year-old building that is a show place in Mill Valley. It even has a cat-in-residence, Flower Bower Gower Champion. Not accustomed to being stared at by a camera, he is not his usual charming, placid self. In I-J stories recording how he came to be the library cat, he has been called a possible reincarnation of "Archie the Cockroach."

(Independent-Journal Photo)

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Mill Valley people who are interested in their public libarary — and there are many, for the beautiful two-year-old building was achieved through their hard work — will tell you that librarian Dorothy Thomas is largely responsible for its reputation as a community center.

So homelike and informal is the atmosphere of the library with its big fireplace surrounded by deep-cushioned furniture that it even has its own resident cat — Flower Bower Gower Champion. But he has a remarkable story of his own that has been frequently publicized.

WHERE, OTHER THAN in Mill Valley, would you find a library where you can not only borrow but enjoy on the spot listening to classical and popular records. This music section was both the first in the county and the first in the Bay Area and now consists of 2,748 discs and a few tapes.

Community activities Dorothy Thomas has encouraged in the library are art exhibits, poetry readings, showing of films like the series from India provided by the Indian Consulate and many kinds of group meetings.

Among the widely varying groups who have taken advantage of this opportunity are an investment club, stitchery classes, the Marin Conservation League, Marin Horsemen, Camp Fire Girls, the Parent-Teacher Assocation Council and Fashion Club.

A recent unique project that Dorothy Thomas has assisted through getting suitable materials is the Marin Literary Volunteer program. Among this material are books in very large print donated by members of the Lions Club. These books available to anyone are used by the volunteer women who assist illiterate adults and people with poor eyesight with reading problems.

"WHAT MAKES ME FEEL the best," Dorothy says, "is that people do seem to like the library and feel that they get good service. I think Mill Valley has a successful library because of the caliber of people living here who support it, pay for it and use it. They are intellectually active and engaged. This makes it a worth while place to work."

The friendly librarian, who has held her position since 1950, when she started in the old library on Lovell Avenue, is proud of the fact that it has increased in use greatly since the new building was opened on Aug. 22, 1966. She says that whereas the total circulation between July, 1965 and June, 1966 was 182,344 books and magazines, between June, 1967 and June, 1968, it was 255,207.

Awards of merit were presented jointly by the American Institute of Architects, the American Library Association and the National Book Committee to the architect, to the city and to Dorothy Thomas herself. In 1962 the library received the Dorothy Canfield Fisher award of $1,000 for its excellence as a small library.

So intimately is Dorothy Thomas associated with books and libraries that many will be surprised to hear that though her background includes many years in this kind of work, she was once engaged in the gold mining business with her husband Sydney.

A NATIVE OF BUFFALO, N.Y., Dorothy was graduated from the University of Buffalo with a B.A. and B.S. in library science.

"I'm afraid my motives for going into this kind of work were very practical," she smiled. "I had heard that high school librarians had a good rate of pay and, of course, there were the long summer vacations — so in my senior year I decided to become a high school librarian.

"Instead, after I was graduated, I took a job in the Grosvenor Library in Buffalo, which was only a reference library without any circulation. I stayed there two years. Then since I wanted to go abroad and didn't have much money, I was happy when I got the chance to work in the American Library in Paris. This was started in World War I by the U. S. Army and American Library Association. It continued after the war and is still in existence. Practically all books are in English, and it is used by Americans and English people living in Paris as well as the French people."

The most important thing that happened to her during her year there was meeting her husband, a certified public accountant from Buffalo who had been traveling with a group of engineers visiting plants in Europe.

THEY HAD GONE TO the same grammar school, in the same grade, but did not know each other, since there were several different classes of the grade, and they had also lived within a few blocks of each other.

After she returned to Buffalo, they were married in October, 1930, and she returned to work at the Grosvenor Library, staying seven years.

Then her husband had to come to California on business, and she joined him at Chico.

"I'd not had time to read much before that and spent six months reading best sellers," she recalled. "I had worked on a master's degree in English but gave that up when we became interested in gold mining.

"We leased property in Butte County, not far from Paradise. We lived at the mine and employed a few miners, but it didn't turn out to be a paying operation when World War II started, and it became impossible to get materials."

WHEN HER HUSBAND went back to work for his old firm in New York City, Dorothy worked for a while at the Merchandise Research Library of Vick Chemical Company in that city, and when he entered service with the Navy in Washington, D. C., she got a job in the Bureau of Aeronautics Still Pictures Division, where pictures were treated almost like books. She remained there until her husband went to Guam in March, 1945.

She had just obtained a position as librarian with the Army when the war ended.

After that she spent a short time in Seattle while he was still in Guam, and when he returned to this country they decided they wanted to live in California and came to Sausalito.

Her husband joined a CPA firm in San Francisco, and Dorothy held two jobs before she became librarian in Mill Valley. One was with a chemical research library with Paraffin Companies in Emeryville, and the other in a distribution library in a naval supply center that provided books for ships.

In 1946 the Thomases moved to Mill Valley and lived there until 1960, when they moved to Paradise Drive in Corte Madera.

AFTER TWO YEARS IN the beautiful new library, Dorothy Thomas finds it an ideal place to work, but as in most jobs there are problems to plague her.

"Lately we have been losing books, including some quite surprising ones," she says,

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Diversified Letters Bring Most Response From Readers Recently

DEAR HELEN:

I'm curious. What teen letter in recent months has brought the most response, and which of your answers to teen problems has brought you the most criticism?—JOHN

DEAR JOHN:

Three letters just about tied for "most response." They were from "Terrified, Trembling 12" who shared her room with a super-sloppy sister; "Jade and K. K." who won an unpopularity contest with my readers when they told people over 30 to go crawl back in the woodwork; and "Lonely Girl" who had friends among boys, but couldn't get a boy friend. (She received more letters from boys than girls.)

Criticism? My answer to "Pixie in a Fix" rated the sharpest advice and dissent — and I'm still surprised.

Pixie wrote, "My boyfriend and I went by his house unexpectedly. Helen, you wouldn't believe me, but out from the bathroom came his mother with nothing on but a small towel! My eyeballs nearly fell out of my head. So I told her I knew right from wrong and she should be ashamed. Do you think he should drop me just because I told his mother what I thought about her making a spectacle of herself?"

I answered, "He's probably thinking — and rightly — how your sharp tongue could cut up a marriage," and suggested she apologize; this on the theory that an unexpected visitor should keep her opinions to herself especially if the hostess might someday be her mother-in-law.

An amazing number of readers thought Pixie's tactlessness was just great. A few called her mother a pig and me immoral for appearing to take her side.

. . . All of which might help explain why girls have mother-in-law problems.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Perhaps as you say, Pixie's boy friend's mother walked out of the bathroom in a towel, not knowing there was company. If not, Pixie's lecture probably wouldn't have helped, but would have embarrassed the son even more.

I speak from experience, as I went through this with my mother. She would be all day in a sheer nylon nightie. I was so embarrassed, I wouldn't bring anyone home with me. The kids used to laugh and say if you wanted a physical education, just come to my house.

When I started dating I thought she would cover up, but no: She just accused me of having an evil mind when I tried to talk to her about it. I was so crushed and hurt I withdrew from life.

After graduation I got a job about 100 miles away from home. There came a day when I had to take my fiance to meet my mother. He was shocked, though he tried to act natural. I doubt that we'll ever go back.

My mother's nudity just about ruined my growing up years.—L.L.S.

DEAR L:

If you don't stop brooding over it, your mother's nudity may also ruin your adult years. Shrug off what you can't change, and feel sorry for a woman whose biggest problem isn't what she wears but why she wears it. Have you considered that her nylon nightie may be a symptom of a very disturbed personality?—H.

Friday The 13th Great Day For Stevengraph Auction

By GREGORY JENSEN

LONDON (UPI) — This week's Friday the 13th is the great day for Lewis Smith of Irvington-on-Hudson, N.Y. Smith is president of the International Association of Stevengraph Collectors.

President of what?

The International Association of Stevengraph Collectors, most of whose members are Americans.

YOU DIDN'T KNOW? Well in that case, perhaps we'd better start from the beginning.

Thomas Stevens was a man with a gimmick. He brought some French weaving looms to Victorian England and adapted the living daylights out of them. He used them to weave small pictures, brilliant in detail and color, usually in ribbons about the width of a book mark and three to six inches long.

Stevens' looms manufactured these things untouched by human hand, and in an age wholly mad for novelties and machines they were a revolution.

With typical Victorian modesty, Stevens dubbed his products "Stevengraphs." With typical Victorian enterprise, he sold them as souvenirs for a few pennies, and he sold them everywhere.

BY THE TIME he died in 1888 he had developed a system of sending portable looms to international trade fairs, in the United States and all over Europe, turning out special souvenir Stevengraphs on the spot. His factory in Coventry, England, meanwhile churned out spicy subjects like "Lady Godiva's Ride" and "Leda and the Swan." Small wonder the business flourished.

It flourished so well, in fact, that the Coventry factory merrily ground out Stevengraphs until one night in 1940, when the German Luftwaffe destroyed its machines and most of Coventry along with them.

As the years went by, Lewis Smith and a few other sharpeyed bargain hunters from Aberdeen to Adelaide began to snap up Stevengraphs from junk shops and antique stores. They had the market to themselves until last year, when Knight, Frank and Rutley popped up.

KNIGHT, FRANK and Rutley is a firm of London auctioneers whose specialty is real estate, but which auctions furniture and bric-a-brac on the side. In March, 1967, it sold a few Stevengraphs and the boom was on.

Stevengraphs are a long way from the Rembrandt class, but Knight, Frank and Rutley have a nice little monopoly on their auction. By now they've sold about 1,400 of them, for a total of around $59,000. Thomas Stevens would be so proud.

His "Leda and the Swan," a rare subject, brought a world record price of $504 not long ago. Stirring subjects such as "The Spanish Bull Fight" and "Columbus Leaving Spain and Landing in America," or even "The Declaration of Independence," have sold for upwards of $250. Prices between $120 and $240 are common.

WHICH MAY HELP explain why most Stevengraph collectors are Americans. At least, more than two-thirds of the 100 or so members of the International Association of Stevengraph collectors live in the United States.

And Friday the 13th? That's the day Knight, Frank and Rutley will hold the largest auction sale ever of Stevengraph pictures, more than 160 of them.

One man who wouldn't miss it for the world already owns the world's largest collection of Stevengraphs. Appropriately, he is the president of the International Association of Stevengraph Collectors, Lewis Smith of Irvington-on-Hudson.

Dr. James McCray To Wed Miss Krege In Mill Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Charles Krege of St. Petersburg, Fla., announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Kay Krege of San Francisco, to Dr. James Henry McCray of Sausalito.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Northeast High School in St. Petersburg, St. Petersburg Junior College and the University of Florida at Gainesville, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority. She holds a bachelor of science degree and is a registered nurse employed as an in-service instructor in nursing administration at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco.

NANCY KAY KREGE

She has a twin brother, Robert Clarence Krege of Clearwater, Fla., and two more brothers, Dr. John Wilson Krege of Lachline Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex., and Roy Detwiler Krege of Banner Elk, N. C.

The future bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alpha McCray of Detroit, Mich., is a graduate of the Tennessee Military Institute, Albion College in Albion, Mich., and University of Detroit. He has his own dental offices in the Shoreline Shopping Center in Mill Valley.

He is a member of the San Francisco Yacht Club and Marin County Dental Society, the Academy of General Dentistry and Northern California Academy of Endodontics.

The couple will be married Oct. 6 at the Mill Valley Community Church.

Infant Travel

Although many airlines carry a supply of baby food, it might be wise to take your own so you will be sure to have baby's favorite foods. Jars of ready-to-feed cereal, strained fruits, meat dinners and cans of juices are the easiest to carry and serve. These foods require no preparation. At mealtime, the stewardess can give you a dish, cup and small spoon and you can feed baby his regular meal.

ADELE SCOTTO

Adele Scotto Engagement Is Announced

Mrs. Florence Scotto of San Anselmo and Joseph Scotto of San Rafael announced the engagement of their daughter, Adele Marie, to Michael Edward Rebsamen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rebsamen of San Rafael.

Annual Fizz Party Will Welcome Foundation Members Friday

The Driftwood Branch of the Marin Foundation has selected the home of Mrs. Philip West, 18 Leeward Road, on the Belvedere Lagoon to host its newly launched annual fizz party to welcome invited sustaining members to the foundation. This event is scheduled from 10 a.m. to noon on Friday.

The purpose of expanding the membership is to encourage broader interest and support in the teen-age problem of today. Marin Foundation initiated a pilot program in 1964 to provide care for up to six girls at a time in a group home in San Rafael. These girls are placed with the foundation by the Marin County Probation and Public Social Services departments and are usually wards of the juvenile court. Since its inception, some 21 girls have benefited from this new kind of therapeutic environment and gone on to become self-supporting citizens in the community.

For a number of years experts in the field have felt that the "group home" — a small group of teen-agers living together with professional supervision from an objective, caring adult staff — offered the best environment for solution of troubled teen agers' problems. Emotionally disturbed adolescents often cannot adjust to living with their own parents, nor can they accept the necessary identification with substitute parents in a foster home.

In the group home setting, they help each other in group "talk" sessions (refereed by an experienced psychiatric social worker) and live in a comparatively normal social environment, preparing them to be on their own when they graduate from high school.

In juvenile hall, behind locked doors, and at a higher cost than at a group home, they cannot learn to cope with the pressures and temptations of life "outside." Hence, they may well become a continuing responsibility to society and never realize their potential.

With expanding need (Marin County's high school population has almost doubled since 1960) Marin Foundation expanded its pilot program this spring and now has three group homes — two for girls and one for boys.

Driftwood Unit has invited a number of Marin ladies to become sustaining members of the foundation, as they feel that the more community understanding and support this effort engenders, the better the chance for success. Sustaining members are encouraged to join primarily for moral support . . . as well as for their small financial donation, which will permit the program increased elasticity with the additional funds. These new members will in no way be required to participate as active members of the foundation.

THE HUFFS 'N PUFFS Square Dance group has scheduled classes, beginning this week. Registration for a beginners' class has been set for Thursday evenings, both Sept. 12 and Sept. 19, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., at the Marinwood Community Center, 775 Miller Creek Road, San Rafael. Instructor will be Keith Gylfe and classes will be conducted every Thursday evening in the center.

Miss Jones is a singer, choreographer, actress and teacher. She choreographed the recent production of the 50th annual Mountain Play.

She will be seen on Sept. 13 and 14 in a benefit performance with the ballet Afro-Haiti at the Manzanita Neighborhood Center in Marin City.

Information regarding Miss Jones' class to be held Wednesday evenings at 7:30, starting Sept. 18, or regarding other classes in modern dance or classical ballet, may be obtained by calling the Pacific Dance Guild office in Mill Valley.

THE NORTHGATE Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center will have a general meeting tomorrow at 1 a.m. in the Livermore Room at the center. Mrs. Patrick Foster, president of the organization, will conduct a short business meeting which will be followed by a box lunch party. Hostesses for the day will be Mesdames Robert Eschen, Edgar Garbarini, Peter Skaer, Samuel Crowell, Peter Curtis and Philip Nathan.

THE SOCIAL-Lites Club of Santa Rosa invites all single adults to a dance Friday evening at the Rainbow Room of the El Rancho Hotel on Santa Rosa Avenue in Santa Rosa.

LIBRARIAN

"such as five volumes of the Americana Encyclopedia and encyclopedias of religion, and ethics. (She thinks the latter may have something to do with the interest in Zen.)

"It's hard to keep books on astrology, hypnotism, auto repair and sex," she says, "and we can't keep some records, especially the Beatles.

"We just have to buy them again because we can't penalize the honest people. We do have to remember that 99 per cent of people are honest or we wouldn't be able to have a public library at all.

"Theft and damage are not anything new, however," she pointed out. "We have always found things cut out of books. The more the library is used, the more things are stolen. Possibly more is stolen now," she admitted.

DOROTHY THOMAS HAS some interesting plans for the future.

"I would like to build up all kinds of information on Mill Valley history in manuscripts, photographs or memorabilia people have collected," she says. "These things will be harder and harder to get as time goes on, and I wish people would bring any materials they have of this kind to the library.

"Other things I would like to do are to establish a microfilm collection of back magazines, expand children's activities and encourage more exhibits and perhaps have concerts of new records and film showings for adults, if there is enough interest."

Not generally known, Dorothy Thomas explained, is that through membership in the North Bay Cooperative Library system, 16mm films can be borrowed free by individuals and groups, together with a projector and screen.

FROM ROME FOR EVENING

Fall Coat Lines Are Paneled, Bias Fitted, Flaired In Unusual Fabrics

Take up sculpturing this fall. The sculpturing of uniquely carved coats. One of this season's most striking looks will be found in the beautiful balanced, fluid lines of the new coat styles.

Paneled, bias fitted and flaired, these coats add that special couturier touch to your winter wardrobe. They come zipped up the front with a sporty air, or tailored in the manner of shirts, complete to the buttoned cuffs. Unlike the trend toward the high collar of the tunic, these coats carry wide and flattened collars, crisply cornered or sublty rounded.

To enhance the sculptured effect, designers have chosen unusual fabrics, such as corduroy, cut in soft, full wales or deep high or low piles. The soft hand and cut velvet look of these new corduroys, give the coats an elegance and richness of color.

In spite of the midi, hemlines will not drop. For the average woman, coats may even be a bit shorter than last year. Most designers opt for a length or one to three inches above the knee, depending upon the age and figure.

And last, but never least, accessories are most important to the total look. Dark stockings, either opaque or textured in black, navy or burgundy, are the best way to show off your "monster" pumps and colorful coatery. Hats will stay on the small side and designers prefers neat berets and tams in soft neutral felt.

Permanent Press Fabrics Need Some Pressing, Says Institute

If you thought you could retire your iron now that the durable press era is here, you'd better recall it for active duty.

That's the recommendation of the nation's laundry experts in a a report issued this week on the resin-finished fabrics which promise permanent press qualities.

From its research and textile center in Joliet, Ill., the American Institute of Laundering, representing 80 per cent of the country's professional launderers, told its members that these garments do need some pressing — and will need more as they are frequently laundered.

The A.I.L. made extensive tests of various combinations of washing and drying methods, including the use of home and professional equipment, as well as hand washing, the report points out. They also studied the fabrics after bleaching and alterations had been made.

The test program was launched as a result of the prediction of garment manufacturers that 90 per cent of all production will be channeled to meet consumer demand for permanent press clothing.

Conclusions from testing polyester/cotton shirts, typical of durable press fabrics is use, were:

Washing in cool or in warm water either by machine or hand and air drying does not clean nor does it remove wrinkles put in the fabric during wear.

Hot home washing with tumble drying is satisfactory for a few wear cycles. But after eight to 10 wearings the fabric requires pressing. Wear wrinkles are evident and the fabric is fuzzy.

Washing done in professional white work shirt procedure used by laundries involves a complete pressing, but assures that they are clean.

Garments of heavier materials, such as slacks, and work shirts initially retain their shape and creases well after washing and drying, the Institute continued. But as the number of wear cycles increases, they found the need for pressing also increases.

The A.I.L. found that the new fabrics are greatly improved over the old wash-and-wear materials, in that the resins used to make the permanent press, are not chlorine retentive, as a rule. In the older fabrics, chlorine from bleaches would be retained in the fabric, and when the heat of pressing was applied, the fabric would deteriorate. "For the most part," they reported, "the problem of chlorine retention as we knew it with wash-and-wear is not present."

But the launderers found that alterations create a problem with these permanently finished materials. Seams can be taken in to make the garment smaller, but they can't be let out. Cuffs can be shortened, but lengthening is not recommended, and they have some reservations about shortening.

In tapering legs of pants, they recommend to "sew off equal amounts from both the inseam and the outer seam rather than from one only," since the position of the crease can't be changed, and by sewing in a little on each seam, the crease will remain the same, thus preventing the creation of a double crease.

The laundry experts also found that durable press fabrics have a tendency to absorb oil and grease, and that frequently in order to clean them, they must use both laundry and dry cleaning techniques.

They recommend to women who complain that home laundering of polyester/cotton shirts has resulted in discoloration, that they turn the job over to the professional laundry. If shirts don't come back to their original brightness after the first washing, successive professional laundering should improve their appearance.

Do drop in for a chat about various vintages . . . you'll learn a lot and, should you already be a bit of an expert, you are certain to be impressed.

Lots of news in The Village these days. To begin with, Inn Marin has assumed a "with it" personality featuring Discotheque Dancing and Smorgasbord Dining.

Saturday, Sept. 14th will be a busy day in The Village. From 9:30 to 10:30 in the morning there will be a gathering (and display) of antique and classic cars that are on their way to The Silverado Concours d'Elegance (annual benefit for The Florence Crittenton Home). Noted entertainment personalities are expected to stop by to admire these "Auto for Always" and the public is definitely invited.

That same day, strolling players from The Marin Shakespeare Festival will appear in The Village in the afternoon, in costume, for impromptu performances.

Then, on Sept. 19, 20 and 21 you'll want to join in Early California Town & Country Days, with entertainment and sidewalk sales. See you soon, in The Village!

Reed Postpones Salary Increases

Reed School District trustees, trying to squeeze funds out of a tight budget, postponed action last night on granting salary increases for 1968-69.

Trustees were faced with requests for pay boosts from teaching, non-teaching and administrative staff totaling $96,710 at the special session.

The board's problem became acute when it was announced Friday that revenues this school year would be $27,158 less than anticipated because of an error in estimating the assessed wealth of the district, the first reduction in 20 years in public utilities assessed valuation and an increase in the district's area-wide tax.

After three hours of discussion, trustees indicated they could scrape up $18,668 by tapping the $68,668 reserve, and possibly $15,000 by cutbacks on some budgeted items.

Allen West, co-chairman of the Reed District Teachers Association, described the teachers' request for a $600 across-the-board, cost of living raise as "justified and minimum."

The proposed boost for teachers would cost $68,859 and would be in addition to the automatic step increases granted teachers in June.

Non-teaching employees requested a 7 per cent increase at a cost of $17,261.

Also proposed were raises for principals, three at 7 per cent and two at 10 per cent, totaling $6,090; a $2,000 raise for William G. Vanasen, assistant superintendent for business; and a $2,500 raise for Supt. H. Joe Edgington.

When it became apparent trustee weren't finding enough funds to finance the raises, Trustee Leo Souza suggested that the salary schedule could be boosted next February or later depending upon how much money was available.

This would be a delay, but when the salary rates were established, they would be at the level requested by the teachers, Souza explained. The alternative would be a lesser boost in the salary schedule, he said.

Trustees agreed that teachers and Edgington should have a chance to mull over this arrangement before any action is taken. The board also asked Edgington to check over some budgeted items, about $60,000 worth, to determine where there could be cuts to bring a 25 per cent reduction.

Under consideration would be cuts in capital outlay for books and equipment for Reedland Woods School, after school recreation funds, telephone expenses, teaching team leader fund conferences, in-service funds and field trips.

At one point Souza sought reaction to the idea of eliminating teacher aides, and the reaction was unfavorable.

Souza then said that teachers must realize that if they oppose such reductions, they are reducing the money available for pay increases.

Edgington said the majority of teachers "realize the situation and don't like it because it affects the groceries, but I don't think the staff is ready to go out on strike as New York did."

Trustee Alyce L. Farkas suggested cutting the school year three days, but Vanasen said he didn't believe that would result in much saving.

Edgington is scheduled to make his recommendation on possible budget cuts and new salary schedules at a meeting of the board at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at Bel Aire School.

Chairman K. L. Rice Jr. announced that the regularly scheduled board meetings will be held at Bel Aire School for the 1968-69 school year.

The board also postponed the hiring of a library clerk and four team teaching aides and postponed setting a salary for the newly approved position of vice principal at $1,000 a year above the person's regularly teaching salary.

Trustee James B. Atkin was absent.

Kentfield To Join In Book Case

The Kentfield School District board last night agreed to join other school districts in the county in a suit against publishers of children's books who have violated antitrust laws.

The Marin County counsel's office is preparing the suit.

Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said that the Kentfield district had purchased about $18,700 worth of books published by the companies involved.

The board also received a letter last night from Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen saying that he felt the cost of traffic safety facilities on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard should be borne by the county, not the school district or property owners.

The Kentfield School District board also:

SURPLUS — Authorized the sale of 90 surplus school desks at approximately $5 each.

BONDS — Endorsed the Tamalpais High School District $10.9 million bond proposal on the Nov. 5 ballot.

TEACHERS — Hired Juneal Lipscomb at $7,750 a year and Richard Millikan at $6,510 as teachers at Adaline E. Kent School and Joyce Huntley at $9,424 as a teacher at Greenbrae School.

EMPLOYEES — Hired Johnette Jensen at $457 a month as clerk-typist at Adaline E. Kent School and Dennis Hoell at $312 a month as part-time custodian at Wolfe Grade School.

Tryout Place Is Changed

The place for the final tryouts for the "Bunny Bash," fall revue of the Novato Community Players has been changed from the Novato Community House to the Henry Hicks Realty Office on Tamalpais Avenue and Novato Boulevard, said publicity chairman Marilyn Casady.

The time remains 8 p.m. Thursday.

There are openings for singing, dancing and speaking parts in the revue which is a spoof of the Playboy clubs, Mrs. Casady explained. The revue will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 15-16 and 22-23, she said.

Amendment Asked To Make Synanon Action Permanent

A zoning ordinance amendment making permanent an emergency measure to prevent Synanon Foundation from moving into Corte Madera without a use permit was approved last night by the Corte Madera Planning Commission.

The measure will go before the town council next Monday at 7:30 p.m. for scheduling of a public hearing.

The town council on March 4 passed an emergency ordinance to make certain that Synanon, then planning to buy the Uplands Apartments in East Corte Madera, request a use permit.

The ordinance was later extended, although in the meantime Synanon announced that it had abandoned plans for buying the apartments.

The planning commission also approved plans for Cinema 1, the new Blumenfeld Theater to be located at 41 Tamal Vista Boulevard with the provisions that a four-foot sidewalk be built on both sides of the building. Two freestanding signs for the theater, one facing Highway 101 and one on Tamal Vista Boulevard were also approved.

A request by the Doug Dicker Chrysler agency for a four-by-24-foot sign was reduced to four-by-nine feet.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission Also:

TRANSMISSION LINE — Recommended approval of an overhead transmission line to be placed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. south of Corte Madera Creek and east of Highway 101.

SIGN STUDY — Postponed discussion of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce sign study until the Oct. 14 meeting.

SYLVAN WAY — Approved a request for abandonment of a portion of Sylvan Way.

TRAVEL AGENCY — Approved a freestanding sign for Tamalpais Travel Inc. at 506 Tamalpais Drive.

ANNEXATION — Endorsed a proposed liberalization of the county's annexation policy to be considered by the City-County Planning Council.

Actress Plans To Seek Divorce

NEWPORT BEACH (AP) — Blonde actress Mamie Van Doren, 35, said last night she is divorcing former baseball pitcher Lee Meyers, 22, her husband of two years.

"I am definitely going through with the divorce," the actress said. "I was going to file for separate maintenance, but I don't have time, and I know that if I flew to Juarez the divorce might not be legal."

She said she would file suit in Los Angeles tomorrow.

Miss Van Doren and Meyers, then a pitcher with Dallas-Fort Worth of the Texas League, were secretly married in 1966. He has since gone into land development.

Miss Van Doren, who previously was married to bandleader Ray Anthony, said she'll go to New York this month to appear in a show, "The Scandalous Follies."

Novato Lighting

A meeting to discuss proposed rooftop lighting for the downtown area of Novato will be held at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at Crocker Citizens Banl, according to Ben F. Edwards, president of the Novato Downtown Merchants Association.

COLLEGE OF MARIN

Negroes' Future Appears Brighter

Although the typical Negro student at College of Marin, particularly if he lives in Marin City, is beset with financial and home problems as well as lack of academic background, his future has begun to look brighter.

Results of a study made with federal funds by Margaret Duncan Greene on "Negro Students at the College of Marin from 1943 to 1968" show that there has been a marked change on the campus since 1966.

Before then, Mrs. Greene writes, the number of Negro students attending the Kentfield campus at any one time ranged from a handful to not more than two dozen.

With a few exceptions, the academic record of these students was poor, and few completed more than one year and only one or two graduated or transferred each year.

Furthermore, the black students, according to the researcher, were isolated from campus social life, spending their spare time in the "Negro corner" of the student center.

Although the enrollment picture began to change in 1966, when a class of 27 Negroes from Tamalpais High School entered and the total Negro registration jumped to 49, the academic picture remained dismal with 90 per cent of the entering group on probation by midyear.

Finally, last fall the tide began to turn. Even more Negroes registered, this time 64, but even more encouraging, according to Mrs. Green, was the change in academic progress and attitude.

At the end of the year 49 per cent of the black students were in good standing, a much better record than before. Last year for the first time, the majority of black students came from outside Marin City, and this group scored academically about the same as the college average.

The Marin City group continued to be lower than average but much improved over former years.

"The academic improvement among Negroe students has been accompanied by a less tangible but no less important change in academic attitude," Mrs. Greene writes.

Students are pressuring for "transfer" courses which will enable them to go on to a four-year college and some resent counsellors' suggestions that they be placed in easier or remedial courses.

"Most noticeable, too, has been a move by the students from isolation in a corner of the student center into the mainstream of activity on the campus," according to Mrs. Greene.

Formation of the Black Students for Action, which was a very active force on the campus, also took place last year. Although Mrs. Green found that the strong black identity push has the potential for increasing friction between whites and blacks, the Negro students last year joined in many campus activities.

Financial support for needy Negro students has been effective in keeping many students on the campus, but others face pressing economic problems. Lunch money and car fare are hard to come by for many Marin City youths, Mrs. Greene said.

She also found in her interviews that some students' parents, worried about making ends meet, try to get their youngsters to quit school and find jobs.

Furthermore, a quiet place to study does not exist in many of the Negroes' homes.

Finally, Mrs. Greene said the Negro students, particularly the young men, need to see more Negroes in responsible positions on the college staff. She was hopeful that the Afro-American studies being instituted this year would give blacks a sense of pride and purpose.

WOMAN INJURED IN HIGHWAY PLUNGE

An Orange County woman is carried from the wreckage of her car which plunged off Highway 101 at California Park Hill yesterday. Barbara Lantz Swanson, 38, of Buena Park was reported in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital with a broken jaw, face cuts and a back injury. The California Highway Patrol reported her car rolled through an unpaved turnout at 12:55 p.m. them plunged through trees and down a bank for 100 feet. A witness said the car accelerated sharply after it left the highway. (Independent-Journal photo).

PROTECTS HUMAN RIGHTS

Grievance Panel Aids The Underdog

By JOANNE GRANT
(First of two articles)

John R. Jones, called a "capable and efficient worker" by his employer, is looking ahead to promotion in his job with Marin County — a promotion he thought he would not get because he is a Negro.

Jones (not a real name) was assured in writing he would receive serious consideration as soon as an opening came up in his department — after he took advantage of a little-known and little-used ombudsman-like procedure, in operation in Marin for about two years.

He went to the grievance section of the Police-Community Relations Committee of the Human Rights Commission.

It is not officially an ombudsman — one who helps persons "fight city hall" — but it is performing that function.

It works quietly and uses a minimum of red tape to investigate complaints of almost every kind of harassment, discrimination or other grievance.

Jeanne Wray (not a real name) used the procedure to resolve a case of what she believed was police harassment.

Mrs. Wray had been questioned by officers twice in one month about incidents she was not connected with. She asked to have her name cleared.

The complaint was resolved after consultation with the law enforcement agency when the officer in question was transferred, according to Wallace K. Shepherd, field worker in the Human Rights Department office.

Both Mrs. Wray and Jones initiated the grievance procedure by completing a simple form listing name, address and phone number of themselves and the person or agency involved and giving a full account of the complaint.

Their cases were then investigated by the department staff and satisfactorily resolved in consultations with all concerned without a hearing.

In fact, of the approximately 20 complaints so far, none has reached the hearing stage, Shepherd said.

Hearings were included in the machinery approved in 1966 by the board of supervisors and the commission was given the power to subpoena.

Usually, just the idea that people can be subpoenaed is conducive to settlement, Shepherd said.

He said the department has had every kind of complaint imaginable, including one of a Caucasian alleging discrimination in housing by a Negro; another of a Negro complaining of job discrimination by a Negro. Even family problems and neighborhood squabbles are brought to the department for a solution, he said.

Of the formal complaints, employment leads the list with eight. Housing is next, with six. Mrs. Wray's police harassment complaint was the only one in that category.

However, Shepherd noted the figures represent only a handful of the complaints handled by the Human Rights Department.

Many can be solved without the formal grievance procedures which can take a month or more, according to Shepherd, who said the staff is insufficient for the growing number of cases.

He also said "excellent cooperation" of the Marin County sheriff's department has limited formal complaints in the police category.

Other callers eliminate the grievance procedure by checking on their rights before a case gets that far, he said.

The idea of having an independent agency to help resolve grievances was promoted in Marin by San Rafael attorney Bella Aaron, chairman of the Police-Community Relations Committee.

Mrs. Aaron said she believed the plan was necessary because "one of the greatest frustrations for minority people was that they believed there was no place where a grievance could be aired and redress obtained."

She noted some other ideas have been tried, unsuccessfully, in other cities.

For example, a review board within a department could whitewash a complaint, she said, adding, "Police represent white power."

And a civilian review board plan "fell flat on its face because police resented invasion into their area by laymen," Mrs. Aaron said.

Frequently, these review boards are uninformed political appointees who conduct only a superficial investigation, she said.

Her plan, to have the staff of the Human Rights Department conduct the investigation and the commission hold a hearing if necessary, has been used as a model by the U. S. Department of Justice, Mrs. Aaron said.

She said Dante Andreotti, former community relations officer with the San Francisco police who now holds a similar position with the justice department, used the Marin program as an example.

Shepherd said the rights department, which concentrates on communication, has tried to let people know "that there is a place they can go and be heard to their satisfaction."

He and Mrs. Aaron agreed that not many are familiar with the existence of the grievance procedure.

But Shepherd emphasized that the Human Rights Department "is not going to do anything until the community says it needs it."

The goal is serving people, rather than people serving the institution, he said.

(Tomorrow: A program for preventing grievances.)

New School To Be Ready In The Fall

Lagunitas School District trustees last night learned the new San Geronimo Valley School will probably be completed in late October or early November.

Completion of the eight classroom school had been estimated for early October in a report made to the board in August. Construction started in May.

The Lagunitas School board also:

NATURE STUDY — Agreed to consider designating an area between Lagunitas and San Geronimo Valley schools as a nature study site and preserving it in its natural state.

ENROLLMENT — Learned anticipated enrollment was 513 this year compared to 509 on the first day of school last year. School opened today.

ACCESS ROAD — Received word that the county counsel has approved a $22,176 contract awarded to W. K. McClellan Co. of San Rafael for an access road and bridge to the new school.

AMENDMENT — Received a letter from the California School Boards Association urging opposition to Proposition 9 (the Watson Amendment) on the November ballot, because the measure would substantially reduce school revenue. Trustees delayed acting on the request until their next meeting at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 23 at Lagunitas School.

Knife Wielder Chases Man

A San Rafael service station attendant was chased by a knife-wielding man yesterday after refusing to serve the prospective customer because of his bad manners.

Willian G. Frye, 40, attendant at Ron Sabaca Chevron Service, 949 Del Presidio Boulevard, told police he refused to serve a motorist who drove in at 8 p.m. because the driver apparently had been drinking, had dumped trash out of his car at the station and had made obscene remarks.

He said the motorist then chased him with a knife. Frye ran into the station's lubrication room and was about to defend himself with a crowbar when the assailant's wife took away his knife, coaxed him into returning to the car and driving off.

Lost Sailors Found Adrift Aboard Boat

An inexperienced father-and-son boating team was found drifting in Tomales Bay this morning after a four-hour search by Coast Guard vessels and a helicopter.

Ken O. Boyles and his son, Darwin, of Jackson, Amador County, were reported missing at 10:30 p.m. yesterday by Mrs. Boyles after they failed to arrive at Nick's Cove in Tomales Bay. They had set out from Drake's Bay at 2 p.m. in a 16 foot inboard-outboard power boat and were due back at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Boyles told the Coast Guard they had no experience with boats, and carried neither flares nor compass. The voyage entailed about ten miles of open sea and negotiating the treacherous currents of the mouth of Tomales Bay.

The cutter Point Barrow and surface vessels searched from 3 a.m. until daylight, when a helicopter took off. The chopper spotted the drifting boat at 7:35 a.m. and a 44-foot cutter from Bodega Bay towed it to Nick's Cove.

The would-be sailors had run out of gas.

Bicycle Trails To Be Studied

Proposed bicycle trails in the Sausalito-Mill Valley area and in Tiburon will be discussed by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Civic Center.

Pierre W. Joske, recreation director, said that Northwestern Pacific Railroad rights-of-ways could provide bicycle trails, and if that is not available, other choices would be considered.

Other items on the agenda include a discussion of the proposed development at Deer Park, which has been stymied because of opposition from Fairfax, litter control, Bolinas Lagoon, and Manzanita Marina Green.

Novato Voted First Choice For Merger

The Novato Sanitary District board last night gave priority to a proposed merger with the City of Novato, shelving until then any merger with the North Marin County Water District, according to Bill Bayles, assistant district engineer.

A study has been made by the staffs of the sanitary district, the city and the water district on possible mergers of all three or any two.

The sanitary district board has favored ultimate merger with the City of Novato and last night voted unanimourly that the district should remain independent until it merger with the city, Bayles said.

The sanitary district cannot now merge with the city because 80 per cent of the district is not within the city. However, it could merge with the water district because all of the sanitary district lies within the water district.

The district boards and the Novato City Council will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the water district office to discuss the possible mergers.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

FUNDS — Consolidated the main and plant expansion funds for both the Ignacio and Novato portions of the district as recommended by Bartle Wells and Associates, financial consultants.

STUDY — Agreed to make a study of the sanitary facilities needed in the area around Gnoss Airport.

MAINS — Accepted the main extensions for the Auto Mart Subdivision on the west side of Highway 101, south of Novato Creek, and for Marin Highlands unit 4 of 51 lots.

Sex Education Film Discussion Scheduled

Possible showing of KQED sex education films will be discussed at a meeting of the Bolinas-Stinson School District board today at 8 p.m. in Bolinas School.

Also on the agenda will be consideration of minor revisions of the school board policy and the substitute teachers rate schedule.

BASE COMMANDER — Col. Michael J. Stublarec today assumed the command of Hamilton Air Force Base. A veteran of 26 years, he flew 30 combat missions during World War II. He came to Hamilton from Ramstein Air Base, Germany. He and his wife, Betty, with their five children, Stephen, 18; Barbara, 16; Susan 13; Michael, 11 and James 10, will live on the base.

Agency Coordination Needed, Board Says

Closer liaison is needed between the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board and agencies like the probation department, department of public social services, and the sheriff's office, the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared this morning at a joint workshop.

"I am concerned that the mental health board has not done as much as it could with other departments," said Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen. "Maybe there should be more coordination."

"This is one of the weakest areas," agreed Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of community mental health services.

Supervisors agreed they are otherwise satisfied with the work of the advisory board.

Dr. Gerald Hill, chairman of the advisory board, said his group would like to hear comments from supervisors on what the advisory board should be doing and what it is neglecting.

Supervisors and the advisory board also discussed, in general, the new budget for 1969-70. Dr. Miller explained that the state now requires the preliminary budget for 1969-70 be drawn up by October.

Supervisors asked him to draw up an overall budget and include new programs contemplated for 1969-70.

The supervisors agreed with Dr. Hill that the advisory board would be the logical agency to coordinate the county's mental retardation program.

Richmond Bridge Commuter Fares To Drop To 30 Cents

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Commuter fares on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge were cut to 30 cents today by the California Toll Bridge Authority.

The cut will be effective Nov. 1, and will be the first since the $62 million bridge opened in 1956.

The regular 75-cent toll was not changed, but revenue soon may be adequate to allow some cut in the regular toll, too, said Gordon C. Luce, secretary of the Business and Transportation Agency.

The present fare for users of commutation books is 37.5 cents per crossing.

The cut was made possible because commuter traffic increased to the point where the bonds that financed the bridge can be paid off with a lower toll, Luce said.

Luce said the reduction was proposed by the Division of Bay Toll Crossings after Gov. Ronald Reagan requested the division to study the feasibility of a cut.

Attack Case To Sonoma Officials

The case of a 17-year-old Marin City boy, suspected of kidnaping and raping a 26-year-old hitchhiker Thursday, has been turned over to Sonoma County juvenile authorities.

The woman, from Portland, Ore., told Sonoma sheriff's officers the boy picked her up near Sausalito and offered to drive her north. When they reached Cotati, she said he pulled off Highway 101 to the Petaluma-Valley Ford Road where he raped her at gunpoint.

The woman said he released her at a Cotati service station where an attendant got the car's license number. He was arrested moments later heading south after having picked up a second woman hitchhiker.

Five Youths Cited By Novato Police

Five boys, aged 15 to 17, were cited and released to their parents when Novato police found two plastic bags of a vegetable material thought to be marijuana in their car, according to police reports.

The five were stopped about 1 a.m. yesterday on Diablo Avenue for curfew violation, and the material was found when police searched their car, according to the reports.

Garbage Bill Rise Gets Backing

Alto Sanitary District directors last night approved in principal a 30 per cent increase in garbage collection rates requested by the Mill Valley Refuse Co., director Carl O. Heynen Jr. reported.

Directors agreed to delay final approval pending a study of the company's financial records, Heynen said. The board also wants to see what action other districts, also served by the refuse company, will take on the rate increase, he added.

The company is asking a 15 per cent increase next year, with a 10 per cent increase in 1970 and a 5 per cent rise in 1971.

Present rates are $2 a month for a single can and $3.75 for two or more cans in residential areas. The first year's increase would raise single can collection rates to $2.30 a month and the two-can rates to $4.31 a month.

The board also heard that the district's assessed valuation for 1968-69 is $1,625,739, an increase of 1.4 per cent over last year's $1,603,164.

Ordered To Trial

Harold Lee Burr, 35, of San Rafael, was ordered in Marin Municipal Court Thursday to report Monday to Marin Superior Court for trial on charges of defrauding a Tamalpais Valley woman of $23,910.

National Conventions Have Outlived Role

Perhaps the disgust arising from the armed-camp atmosphere that surrounded the Democratic national convention has now subsided enough so that we can assess reasonably that convention and the Republican one that preceded it.

Aside from the tumult that accompanied the Chicago meeting of the Democrats, there was not much to distinguish it from the more peaceful Miami Beach gathering of the Republicans.

BOTH CONVENTIONS operated pretty much as national political conventions have operated in the United States for a long, long time. And both parties chose strong candidates for the presidency.

Indeed, it would be difficult to find in our history another election in which the major party candidates have been so well qualified by experience for the presidency.

Both Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon have served in the Senate, and both played prominent roles there. Both have served in the vice presidency.

Not since 1800, when Thomas Jefferson defeated John Adams, have both leading candidates for President been men who had served as vice president. And the United States under the Constitution was too new then for either Adams or Jefferson to have acquired the national legislative experience that is possessed by both Humphrey and Nixon.

IN SPITE of this, a vast number of Americans feel they were cheated in the selection of the candidates.

The numerous polls, conducted almost daily throughout the campaign, are of doubtful validity. But lumping them all together, it is hard to escape the conclusion that neither Humphrey nor Nixon was overwhelmingly "the people's choice." And there are many who believe that neither party nominated its strongest candidate.

The conventions reinforced the belief. For both conventions made abundantly clear that in too many states, the voters actually have little or no influence on how the delegates ballot.

ONLY 16 OF THE 50 states hold presidential preferential primaries. And the rules of these are such that very few of them present the voters with much choice.

California provides an excellent example. An assassin's bullet took the candidate who won the California Democratic primary. And the Republicans had no choice at all; the only primary slate was that of "favorite son" Ronald Reagan — who at the convention tried to parlay the delegates won by that device into the nomination.

IT HAS BEEN suggested that national presidential primaries must be the answer. However, they pose many difficulties. And they may not be necessary.

Certainly, though, the political convention as demonstrated again this year in Chicago and Miami Beach has outlived its role.

Such a primary as that in Oregon, where the names of all declared candidates are placed on the ballot, may be the logical answer. Certainly, the device of "favorite sons" unopposed in the party primary should be everywhere abolished.

If the choice is to be made in convention, there should be some assurance that the delegates to that convention represents the voters, not merely the party machines.

California Is CA

Did you know that CA is now the abbreviation for mail to California? It used to be Calif., then Cal. and now it has reached the ultimate. Thanks to Colorado and Connecticut, it cannot be just C.

The lady at our house doesn't like abbreviations anyway. But she seems to particularly resent CA. It seems to pain her to turn a beautiful musical word into a one syllable yak of an anemic crow.

We tried to explain it doesn't matter how you spell it, just so you have the zip code number correct. But she is a purist and doesn't like zip codes either.

"Suppose you are writing to Tanzania and the person there wants to know where you are writing from?" she asks.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Proposition 9 Fears May Bring Action At Last On Tax Relief

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Proposition 9 on the November general election ballot is being eyed with a lot of misgivings on the part of legislators and others who are fearful the initiative might happen to pass and thereby throw governmental financing into a state of confusion.

The initiative is known as the "Watson Amendment," having been proposed originally by Philip E. Watson, Los Angeles County assessor.

OBJECTIVE of the amendment is to reduce property taxes, eventually to 1 per cent of the market value of the property taxed.

It contemplates that property taxes for "people-related" purposes, such as welfare and education, would be eliminated in 1973, and that the taxes for "property-related" services of government would be reduced to the 1 per cent of market value. Provisions are made, however, for taxes to retire and fund bond issues.

Although exact figures are not available, sponsors of the measure figure that on an average, the measure as written would reduce property taxes throughout the state by 50 per cent.

POLITICIANS in general are opposing the amendment. Senators and assemblymen both foresee in its adoption the almost immediate necessity of raising state taxes, including income and sales taxes, to finance both welfare and schools. It has been estimated an increase to 12 per cent in the sales tax rate and by as much as 300 per cent in the income tax would be necessary to make up the property tax loss.

Opponents have termed the amendment a "tax trap," designed to snare the unwary into voting for it, and thereby causing an unprecedented upheaval in financing both state and local government.

In fact, there is so much concern over the amendment in legislative circles that Republicans and Democrats may compromise their differences during the veto session of the Legislature and request Gov. Ronald Reagan to put the matter of property tax relief on special call.

The state's solons have been arguing property tax relief for almost two years now, without definitive action to put any kind of program into effect.

However, the Legislature now is up against the gun, for the simple reason that the people, through the initiative, have taken the matter into their own hands.

TRY AND STOP ME

THERE'S A NURSE at New York's Lenox Hill Hospital who handles new fathers rather adroitly. An excited new father clutched at her in the reception hall one evening to quaver, "End my suspence, nurse: is it a boy?" She studied him calmly, then answered, "Well, the one in the middle is."

"Your wife never stops talking. How on earth can you stand it?" marveled a henpecked husband's luncheon guest. "I know," sighed the resigned husband. "I've given that woman the best years of my life."

Cheap Substitute Won't Solve Problem

Since the press has made much of the recent ambulance service problems in Novato and Marin County in general, it is my desire to respond fully with a few ideas of my own on this subject. Although my remarks fall a few column inches short of yours on the same subject, I feel that these points need airing and a bit of public exposure.

As you have mentioned, it is time for cities to realize their responsibility to their citizens and quit pinching pennies when lives are at stake.

As long as the city and county fathers keep seeking a cheap substitute they are going to continue to have these problems. If bids are awarded on strictly economy and not on quality, this same problem will continue to arise until they decide to finally pay their fair share.

Let's Have Bicycle Path To Lagoon

Great recreation! Let's have a bike path from Terra Linda, under 101 to Civic Center Lagoon. No cars, just for biking or walking.

There's a tunnel already, for the train, so maybe the engineers could dig away to one side of that tunnel, put up a cyclone fence to protect people, and away we go!

Whole families could bike from their homes to fish, feed ducks, picnic under the trees by the fountains. Kids could get to the library on their own without danger of whizzing cars. Families on the east side could bike to Northgate, leaving their cars at home. Workers at the Hall of Justice could even bike to work. They'd keep fit, their spirits would be high, they'd cheer up their co-workers . . .

Aw, come on! Let's have that Bike-Hike path!

Water District Affronts Its Owners

Would you happen to know if anything can be done to change the policy of our so-called municipal owned water company?

In most dealings with any private owned business, if a problem in your billing occurs they suggest an error could have been made and promise to check into the matter. When I sold my home in San Rafael this summer, I went into the office to inform them of discontinued service as of the first of July. Just recently I received a bill for the discontinued time. When I called them to inform them that an error had occurred I was first given the run-around from department to department, ending at last in the service department. When I had explained to the woman the error that had been made she replied that I had never been in. Thinking she had misunderstood me. I again explained when I had been in and what I had told the office girl. Again her reply was that I had never been in. Being called a liar I think no one likes. Her point was that a form was never completed for discontinued service, this I will not dispute. But when I was in the office no form was mentioned and when the office girl said she would take care of the matter what was I to think? If their own office personnel do not know their usual routine how am I expected to?

Wouldn't we taxpayers, supposed owners of the water company, be better off, receive better service at a possibly reduced cost, plus more consideration if the water company was privately owned? Both the gas and electric company and the telephone company show more consideration and willingness to aid in case of trouble than the water works ever thought of.

Fed Up? Support George C. Wallace

It is appalling that some of your readers actually believe that our constitutional republic is a democracy. Even some of our elected officials refer to our government as a democracy.

Over the past 50 to 60 years the Communists and Socialists have been trying to bring the American people to believe that our government was supposed to be a democracy. Our founding fathers knew quite well that a democracy was the worst of all forms of government.

I can easily understand Mimi Berticevich's dissatisfaction with the two major party candidates, but disagree with her solutions and her belief that she has been disenfranchised. Instead of wasting her vote on a write-in candidate, which won't be counted, I suggest that she and all other Americans that are fed up with the master politicians and their never-ending plans for bigger government support the candidacy of George C. Wallace.

McCarthy Accomplished What He Set Out To Do

(Reprinted from St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Senator McCarthy accomplished what he set out to do. He conducted a gallant, high-level educational campaign that altered the whole political climate, brought legions of young people into active politics, foreclosed renomination to President Johnson, and shook the Democratic party to its foundations. The results, we think, are bound to be beneficial for both the party and the nation.

If the young people he inspired are bitterly disappointed at their failure to win, we hope they will avoid the easy reaction of withdrawal from the "system." The system did, after all, provide a mechanism of protest that has already had tremendous effects on national policy. There can be yet greater effects if the zealous idealists who mobilized around Senators McCarthy, Kennedy and McGovern resolve to make their voices politically effective over the long run.

Just as Adlai E. Stevenson educated and inspired a whole generation of new politicians — many of them enlisted in this peace crusade — so the McCarthy campaign can bring to power in the years ahead an active liberal movement that will rout the Mayor Daleys and other symbols of the political past.

For one thing, we think it will be a long time before another administration of whatever party campaigns cynically on a peace platform while preparing to launch a major undeclared war. Senator McCarthy's campaign, and the response to it among the electorate and specifically within the Democratic party, should have the effect of making simple honesty a commodity of higher value in party politics hereafter.

The Democrats can take pride in having conducted at their convention a serious and responsible debate on foreign policy despite stormy emotions and built-in pressures against self-criticism by a political party. Whatever was lost by disunity will be more than balanced out, in the long run, by gains in self-respect. This virtually unprecedented ventilation of a basic issue on which the old politics would have kept silent in the name of unity could mark the beginning of a new day in American politics.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Sen. Ted Kennedy Wrote Own Chapter In 'Profiles In Courage'

WASHINGTON — No Democratic political leader this year has pursued a truer or steadier course than Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

It was a true course because he was true to his convictions all the way.

It was a steady course because he never allowed himself to be swerved by the massive pressures which were brought to bear on him.

TEDDY KENNEDY'S future can be a worthy one because he is going to make it on his own and not have it made for him by others.

That is the clue to the wisdom of his decision not to seek a presidential nomination as a memorial to his slain brothers, not to allow others to seek it for him.

It took more courage and boldness to wait than to jump in. That's a very special kind of courage and boldness, and Teddy Kennedy showed he had it. It required an inner poise and an inner serenity, and by demonstrating his possession of these qualities, Teddy Kennedy did more than anything he could otherwise have done to prove to many that he is a man the nation is fortunate to have.

IT IS A PRETTY rare thing when a man can take for himself the advice he has given to others. Teddy did. He was one of those who advised his brother Robert not to seek the presidential nomination this year. That was his view before LBJ withdrew and that was his view afterward. That was his advice before Senator McCarthy went after it and that was his advice afterward.

And that was the advice he gave himself when, after the tragedy in Los Angeles, he stood as the political heir to all his brothers had wrought.

No one can tell but Teddy Kennedy himself — if, indeed, he himself knows — what are the relative ingredients that went into his crucial decision — grief for three talented brothers killed in the service of country, devotion to family during the time of trouble, apprehension and determination that if he is to become President he is going to earn it by his own doing and not have it given to him largely by the doing of others and bestowed upon him as a sentimental memorial to his brothers.

ONCE HE MADE up his mind, he stuck to it under the most trying and tempting circumstances. That is another sign of Kenndy strength. Once he decided that he would not seek the presidential nomination and would not accept the vice presidential nomination, he stayed with it despite the efforts of others to use his name for their own purposes.

That was never any meaningful draft-Kennedy movement at the Chicago convention. It was a device, it was a manipulation, it was a frantic effort by a few McCarthy and McGovern supporters to try to use the name of Kennedy see if a little tiptoeing couldn't be made to sound like a stampede away from Hubert Humphrey.

This was a sideshow maneuver without substance and I have no doubt that Teddy Kennedy saw through it. He squelched it because, if he wasn't going to use himself to try for the nomination, he certainly wasn't going to allow others to use him. This is additional evidence of his perceptiveness and steadfastness to his convictions.

There can be no doubt that it takes a high degree of courage and self-confidence to turn aside even the bare possibility of an easy, instant presidential nomination. Teddy Kennedy did so and thereby wrote another chapter in "Profiles in courage."

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Russian Buildup Aimed At Balkan Dissidents

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Russia is now in position to extend its brutal Czechoslovakian aggression to Rumania and Yugoslavia at any time.

Despite the worldwide barrage of sanctimonious denials and befuddling propaganda to the contrary, the Kremlin has emplaced powerful military forces so as to be able to strike fast and hard at the two defiant Communist-ruled countries.

It is this sinister possibility that was behind President Johnson's angry warning against further Soviet aggressions and his long mettings with the National Security Council.

What he and his top military, intelligence and diplomatic advisors know, but have given no public hint of, is the following foreboding development:

SIMULTANEOUS with the ruthless armed invasion of Czechoslovakia, there began a big build-up of Russian naval and air strength in the Mediterranean. This is still continuing.

When it started, the Russians had some 50 surface warships in this strategic tinderbox area — cruisers, destroyers, missile ships and other craft, plus a number of submarines. At least 25 of the former have been added, and nuclear-powered subs have joined the underwater units.

All these Russian naval vessels are using Egyptian ports and facilities. The Egyptian flag flies over them, but the Russians control them. Soviet officers and technicians are the bosses and bruskly make no bones of that — whether the Egyptians like it or not.

Much the same has happened in air build-up.

A number of TU-16 medium jet bombers have taken over Egyptian airfields. The planes have newly painted Egyptian markings, but the pilots and maintenance crews are Russian. Intelligence estimates there are now upwards of 2,000 Russian airmen in Egypt.

YUGOSLAVIA'S ports on the Adriatic could be sealed off in short order, isolating that country from the West and laying it open to ground invasion through Moscow's subservient satellite Hungary — which sent a division into Cxechoslovakia.

Rumania could be assaulted even more directly and easily through the Black Sea and the Soviet Union, which it adjoins. The historic Russian military base at Sebastopol points directly at Rumania.

This is the starkly fearful threat the Kremlin rulers are now holding over Yugoslavia and Rumania to force them to come to terms. Whether they will remains to be seen. President Tito defied Stalin and got away with it. But the times and conditions are different — and anything can happen.

Rumanian President Ceausescu, whose rule over his country is as tough and tight as any behind the Iron Curtain, is deemed more likely to make hide-saving concessions to Moscow than Tito.

With Russian manned bombers sitting on the alert on Egyptian airfields, the Israeli have moved with restraint and caution. Instead of blasting the Egyptians with shot and shell, the Israeli took their complaint to the United Nations.

Truth never yet fell dead in the streets; it has such affinity with the soul of man, the seed however broadcast will catch somewhere and produce it hundredfold. — Theodore Parker.

Talent Not Hard To Find– But Genius! That's The Rarity

The theater was filled. The many contestants were finally narrowed down to three.

The first-prize winner had imitated the comedian brilliantly and the runner-up, a young man with considerable appeal, also won the audience's delighted approval. The decision between the two top winners had been difficult to make and the people were pleased with the outcome.

There's not much to this little story except . . . the third-place winner was Charlie Chaplin himself.

THE NEWSPAPERS reported the incident humorously and that was all there was to that. The story, however, stayed with me. It stayed and bothered and rankled.

How could Chaplin's genius go unrecognized?

The imitators had talent — if no more than a talent for mimicry. This was obvious. Apparently the question was more than one of talent.

Talent may bring acclaim for a moment, a month or even a few years. It has nothing to offer beyond a certain limitation and it is a fleeting gift, lasting at the most a few decades in the life of the possessor.

A man of talent works within a certain prescribed area. He does not venture into the uncharted unknown. He does not plow into new ground.

IT IS ONE of the myths of our time that talent is "discovered," suggesting it was lolling around just waiting for its big moment. Nonsense! This is the stuff of myths. Talent demands practice. Even native talent requires tedious hours of rehearsal; months, years of work. It is not original, but simply an ability, although at times an unusual, even an incredible ability and sometimes so incredible it implies genius.

But genius improves on the art, adds meaningful dimension, goes beyond the immediate, interprets the human condition and tells something of positive worth to man. The achievements of genius endure. And the greater the improvements, the greater the meaning, the greater the worth, the longer the endurance.

IMITATORS FOLLOW in the wake of greatness—or genius—like birds following a farmer plowing new ground.

Phidias had his imitators but there was only one Phidias. And so it was with Homer, Dante and Shakespeare. The world of art has been revolutionized by Picasso and deluged by his imitators, some of them good, a lot of them bad. Hemingway's terse prose style produced a new school of writing and an army of imitators.

Genius is the original; talent, the copy.

Schopenhauer said it like this:

"The man of talent is like the marksman who hits a mark the others cannot hit; the man of genius is like the marksman who hits a mark they cannot even see."

New York Teachers Defying Return Order

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Nearly all of New York City's 900 public schools were closed today by teachers on strike in defiance of a court order, resulting in an extended summer vacation for the city's 1.12-million pupils for the second straight year.

Teachers' strikes also kept 49,000 children out of Michigan schools, 24,000 home at East St. Louis, Ill., and 3,000 out at Madison, Ill.

Teachers in the Rapid City, S.D., school system voted by a 3-1 margin to walk out today. The majority of the 586 teachers voted against accepting a fact-finding board's recommendation of a $5,500 base salary.

Only 3,000 of New York's 60,000 teachers, and 30,000 school children showed up yesterday, the first day of school. A state Supreme Court Justice ordered the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers (UFT) to cease its strike, but the union said it would continue.

Teachers said a plan to break up the New York system into 30 independent districts would give local administrators excessive power, threatening their job security. The strike was planned after the local governing board at an experimental school district in Brooklyn fired 10 teachers.

A hearing examiner exonerated the 10 teachers but the governing board refused to rehire them.

Last year the teachers struck for three weeks for higher pay.

State Supreme Court Justice Harry B. Frank last night signed a temporary restraining order against the teachers—a similar order was ignored last year—and UFT President Albert Shanker said the strike would continue.

Shanker, who served a 15-day jail sentence during the last Christmas holiday for ignoring a similar order, said, "The injunction won't put any children in the classrooms."

Two-thousand Michigan teachers were on strike in six school districts. The strikers were represented in four districts by the Michigan Education Association, in two districts by the Michigan Federation of Teachers. The strikes affected 49,000 children in all.

At East St. Louis, a strike by teachers kept 24,000 students out of classes. The Justice Department also has filed suit against the school board, charging racial discrimination. About 58 per cent of East St. Louis' 900 teachers are Negro, and the government sought to correct alleged racial imbalances.

Teachers at Madison, Ill., rejected the school board's latest offer—a two-year contract.

Broderick's Political Ties May Get Him Appointed As Judge

The judge for Marin's newly created Fifth Superior Court will probably be either E. Warren E. McGuire or Henry J. Broderick.

On the basis of popularity among members of the Marin Bar Association, McGuire has the edge. He was former county counsel and has years of practice in San Rafael. Results of a plebiscite by the Marin Bar Association will be sent on to Governor Reagan, and McGuire's name should be somewhere at the top of the list. This will carry some weight.

BUT THIS may be offset by other political considerations. This is where Broderick of Tiburon, who is less well known among Marin lawyers (Broderick's law office is in San Francisco) will pick up points.

Broderick heads the powerful Marin Republican Council, which was a potent force in Marin during Reagan's gubernatorial campaign. He is a close friend of Paul J. Haerle, the governor's appointments secretary.

Since Reagan took office, almost every key Marin appointee to the governor's staff has come from the ranks of the Marin Republican Council, including Haerle.

The consensus around here is that Broderick will get the nod, unless the governor finds evidence that he is unacceptable to the Marin Bar Association.

A SKELETON of Clyde, a Miwok Indian, estimated age 300 BP (Before Present), is displayed in the county libarary at the Civic Center. Some wise guy suggested that this sign be hung alongside Clyde: "This is what happens to people who forget to return books on time!"

Just about every year, Marin County's exhibit or lack of an exhibit at the state fair comes in for public criticism. And this year's display at Cal-Expo is no exception.

Most of the comments range anywhere from "so-so" to "downright embarrassing."

Observed one irate citizen: "I believe if you saw this dull, uninteresting, unimaginative table model lay-out of Quail Hill and the floor map of the county, you would agree, that one would never know of all the various interests available in this county." The accompanying brochure is described as excellent, "but the visual display is embarrassing."

WE'VE COME to the conclusion that Marin is so unique in atmosphere and picturesque in landscape that no single display can begin to do it justice, at least not for the $5,000 or $6,000 that the county can afford for such an exhibit.

Perhaps next year, we ought to hang out a simple sign that says: "No single display can do justice to Marin. You've got to see it to believe it!" and let it go at that.

THE NEW Memorial Auditorium isn't even built yet, but they've already got a feud going on who's going to control its operation and its use. It's quite complicated, but in general, the conflict pits cultural groups in one corner against the business groups in the other.

Expression Probably Came From A Pub

DETROIT (UPI)—The expression "mind your p's and q's" probably originated in a bar.

According to the "Handy Book of Literary Curiosities," published by Gale Research Co. of Detroit, English pubs used to allow their customers to pay their bar tabs once a week. A running tally of how much ale each patron drank was chalked up on the wall—pints listed under "P" and quarters under "Q."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

"Are both sides of the brain equally important?" Although the two halves look alike and the convolutions on the outer side are identical, only one is dominant. In right-handed individuals, it is the left, and vice versa.

In all probability, both hemispheres are the same and are used as such prior to attending school. Toddlers may use both hands with equal dexterity.

When they begin school, only one hand becomes the worker. It is used to write and perform other procedures that require skill. The right hand usually is dominant; the left serves as an assistant.

On going to school, baby talk is superseded by logical, sharply-defined written language. The half of the brain that directs the working hand also becomes the seat of the large vocabulary in adults. In addition, the essential intellectual powers are concentrated in the dominant portion.

IT DOES, so far as nerves leaving the brain directly on their way to the face and tongue. But the switch occurs at the upper end of the spinal cord where fibers from the left cross over to the right.

THE EXACT pattern depends upon the extent of damage to the dominant side (left) of the brain.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

HEART ATTACKS

F. D. writes: Does a heart attack always mean coronary thrombosis or can it refer to other disorders?

REPLY

The term applies to various types of cardiac conditions but is employed most frequently to refer to coronary thrombosis or, better, myocardial infarction. It is sometimes used to refer to attacks of palpitation, irregularity of the beat, shortness of breath, or a spell of suffocation.

TV REVIEW

Fads Often Old Hat At Airing

By RICK DUBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The eternal production problem of television entertainment is that shows about fads are often old hat by the time they finally get on the air.

That was the chief hangup of last night's half-hour ABC-TV special, "What Gap?", in which Wally Cox—in various mod comedy sequences—portrayed a square 40-year-old trying to bridge the generations.

I don't think anyone really expected much of this half-hour. Yet there was a very clever sequence near the end: a party emphasizing how times were, indeed, changing, with men now making a big thing about their clothes and hair, and women delving into worldly affairs more than before. With several quick strokes, the sketch illustrated the new attitudes of the sexes.

This, in fact, would be an excellent topic for a full-scale special. But the show, despite its occasional nice moments, unfortunately sounded—probably because of the production-to-air-time delay — like a rehash of shows about the contemporary scene.

There were all those overworked expressions like "where it's at," "what's happening," "get with it" and "groovy." And there were all those people who go around saying "fantastic" and "you're beautiful" until their listeners are driven to the point of nausea.

Ross Town Council will wrestle again with the controversy over multiple residential use when it hears two variance resday in towh hall.

The variances are being sought by neighbors William P. Mueller, 23 Walnut Avenue, and Howard G. Shaw, 24 Walnut Avenue. Both properties were in multiple residential use before the applicants bought them, but the multiple use was discontinued after the purchases by the applicants, said Town Clerk Virginia Stott.

Exchange Trio Gets 'Flower Power' Hello

Three exchange students at Terra Linda High School today were being given a "flower power" welcome to the campus by members of the Student International Friendship Club.

Members of the club passed out 250 psychedelic long-stemmed artificial flowers with a tag saying "Help put flower power to work for international friendship at Terra Linda High School."

Students were urged to display the flowers as a welcome to Doris Reckewell, 17, of Goslar, Germany; Brigitte Petersen, 17, of Hadersley, Denmark; and Voltaire Tupaz, 16, of Valenzuela, Bulacan, Philipine Islands. Misses Reckewell and Petersen are seniors, and Tupaz a junior.

The flower power drive was headed by Nancy Wilkinson, president of the friendship club, who just returned from a summer spent in France as an exchange student. She indicated that "flower power" would be the theme of all the club's activities throughout the year.

Miss Reckewell will stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Horvath; Miss Petersen, with Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gamby, and Tupaz with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. McClain. All are residents of Terra Linda.

Jim Taylor Retires As Player; To Stay With Saints

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The New Orleans Saints announced the retirement today of fullback Jimmy Taylor, saying he "will probably go down in history as Louisiana's greatest football player."

Taylor will continue his association with the Saints in a front office capacity in the area of public relations.

"It is with deep regret and a sense of great loss that Taylor's long playing career has come to an end," said John W. Mecom Jr., owner of the club. "But it perhaps is fitting that he played out his career in his home state where he gave leadership and professional football team."

Taylor and his wife were present at a news conference announcing his decision.

Taylor will be 33 in 10 more days and behind him are 10 years of glory and records in the National Football League.

Taylor did not step out willingly, however. He insisted to the last that he's every bit as fast as he was in the 1960 through 1965 seasons, each of which saw him rush for more than 1,000 yards—a record.

After a talk with Mecom and General Manager Vic Schwenk yesterday, Taylor bowed to the inevitable.

"We had a very friendly meeting," said Mecom. "We discussed several possibilities and ideas, talked about statements made over the weekend and went over a lot of misunderstandings."

The statements and misunderstandings started last week when Coach Tom Fears said he was assigning Taylor to special team duty—the kickoffs and return squads.

Then came a story that Taylor planned to announce his retirement following last Friday night's exhibition game at Shreveport with the Minnesota Vikings.

The Green Bay Packers drafted Taylor off the Louisiana State University campus in 1958. He played out his option with the Packers in 1966. Mecom signed him to a contract that added up to $484,000, it was learned, for New Orleans' first year in the NFL.

He gained 360 yards for the Saints in 1967. For the exhibition games this summer, Taylor rushed for a total of 39 yards. He didn't play in two preseason tilts.

The last one was at Shreveport. Taylor, it was learned last night, told team officials that the retirement-cut talk had him upset and he didn't feel like playing.

Taylor was instructed to tell Fears that he wasn't up to playing, but he didn't. The coach angrily said later that as far as he was concerned Taylor "was no longer with the team."

At 9 a.m. yesterday, Taylor didn't show up for a scheduled squad meeting. A few minutes later, he appeared at the Saints' downtown office building, accompanied by a lawyer.

Wake Up Out There; Old Shamus Is Back

HELLO AGAIN — Now that the vacation season is a mere memory, it's time for old Shamus to jump back into the column-writing routine to help induce your winter slumber.

For a while there over the weekend I thought it was the dead of winter, what with all the football galloping across the video screens. Between Friday and last night there were no less than six pro games beamed into our living rooms, a frightful thought when you consider this is early September. Just wait until the season really gets started. Your wives will love you big fat slobs slouched in easy chairs, slopping up the suds and screaming Go, Go, Go for the next 20 weekends or so.

Another awful thought is that at the end of this month three major pro sports — football, baseball and basketball — will be in operation simultaneously. Just think, you can follow the Giants, Warriors and 49ers at the same time. Ugh! Hit and run, fast-break and Red Dog will share equal billing.

Oops! Hold Back That Towel

Speaking of the 49ers, I was all set to throw in the towel for the 23rd consecutive season when suddenly, along about 9:30 Friday night, they vaguely resembled a football team. Oh, I'm not saying they'll belabor the bejabbers out of the likes of the Rams, Colts, Packers et al and make a serious run at the title, but they showed us boob tube addicts they can play hard-nosed and exciting football on a given day. After smelling out the L.A. Coliseum in the first half, Coach Dick Nolan's Niners actually manhandled the vaunted Rams during the last 30 minutes.

Nolan's main problem now is shoring up the deep pass defense. The Rams burned 'em in that territory so imagine what the likes of Unitas and Starr could do.

49ers' New Home Run Punch

On the other hand, the 49ers came up with a bomb of their own for the first time in quite a spell. John "Born To Lose" Brodie is still one of the purest passers in the game, given time to throw, and newcomer Clifton McNeil at flanker finally gives San Francisco that home run punch. Maybe his sensational debut Friday night was a fluke, but his blazing speed is something 49er receivers have lacked over the years. With Brodie on target, McNeill could make us forget the old Alley-Oop play.

Another bright spot was old pro John David Crow's debut at tight end where he blocked well and caught four short passes. If you think I'm going to say something about Old Crow at tight end you're absolutely right. Intoxicating thought!

Also, it's always pleasant to throw a bouquet to a local boy who makes good and that describes Mill Valleyan Elmer Collett, now in his sophomore year as the team's regular right guard, no relation to the spray deodorant of the same position. He has improved so much in such a short time that there appears to be an All-Pro label in his future.

Hardy Is Future Great

Sad to relate, however, is the decline of ex-Tam High star Matt Hazeltine, the senior citizen in 49er livery. The once cat-like Matt has lost a step or two and it seems enemy quarterbacks are exploiting that weakness at the right linebacking post. Nolan may be forced to bench the veteran Hazeltine in this his 14th pro campaign.

All in all, the situation is not as bleak as it appeared during the exhibition season. The 49ers aren't ready for a championship yet, but they may send some heads rolling before the year ends. It should be interesting.

A SMALL DISAGREEMENT

Houston Astro Jimmy Wynn tried to score from second base on Rusty Staub's hit to right in the first inning against Cincinnati, found Reds catcher Johnny Bench blocking the plate and was called out by umprie Paul Prior. Wynn whirled and appeared to try to bench Bench in frustrated disagreement and frustration. Wynn didn't hit Bench, it just looks that way, and nobody won as the game was called because of rain after four innings with the Astros leading, 3-0. (AP Wirephoto).

Singles Champion Eyeing Davis Cup

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Arthur Ashe Jr. is the new titan of international tennis, but he's still not happy.

He has, he says, two more outstanding goals. He wants to help the United States get back the Davis Cup from Australia. And he wants to find his proper place in the seething black power struggle.

"I won't be satisfied until we get back the Davis Cup," the 25-year-old Army lieutenant from Richmond, Va., said today, still receiving congratulations for his stirring 14-12, 5-7, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 victory over young Tom Okker of The Netherlands for the men's singles crown in the U.S. Open Championships.

DOUBLE SLAM

The skinny Negro not only extended his winning streak of matches to 26—dating back to last July—but he added the open to his national amateur crown won two weeks ago at Brookline, Mass., and scored a double slam that may not be duplicated for years.

He automatically became a strong candidate for No. 1 world ranking among both amateurs and professionals.

"For this week, at least, he was the greatest," said Jack Kramer. "Maybe he can prove he's the best in the world. We will have to wait and see."

FUTURE

After hitting the final stroke that made him champion of a star-spangled field that included such stars as Rod Laver, Tony Roche, Pancho Gonzales and Ken Rosewall, Ashe immediately subordinated his own interests to his future goals.

"While I've been winning here, the Australians have been running, jumping and hitting two-on-one," he said, referring to a favorite tactic of Aussie Capt. Harry Hopman in putting two men against one in practice. "They're getting ready for us—we've got to get back that cup."

"GETS TO YOU"

Someone asked Ashe if winning back the Davis Cup would give him more satisfaction than his victory in the U.S. Open.

"Sure, it would," he said. "Out here, I play for myself. In the Davis Cup, we play for the country. The umpire doesn't say, 'Advantage Ashe.' He says, 'Advantage, U.S.A.' That gets to you."

Ashe and the man he had to beat in the semifinals, Clark Graebner, head the team that will invade Adelaide, Australia, at Christmas time for the Davis

Braves Defeat Giants

ATLANTA (UPI)—San Francisco got a helping hand last night from the Los Angeles Dodgers but the Giants couldn't stand the prosperity.

Los Angeles downed the St. Louis Cardinals 10-1 to freeze the Cards' clinching number at seven. However, the Atlanta Braves dumped the Giants 2-1 to reduce St. Louis' magic number to six.

Willie Mays whacked his 19th homer of the season and the 583rd of his career for San Francisco's lone run in the fourth.

BOLIN TONIGHT

Bob Bolin (8-4) tries to get the Giants back on the right track tonight at Atlanta against Al Santorini who has yet to register a decision this season.

The Braves sewed up last night's game with single runs in the first and second. They tallied off loser Ray Sadecki, now 12-16, in the first when Joe Torre singled home Felipe Alou who had led off with a

10TH INNING BLASTS

Red Sox Homers Do In A's

OAKLAND (AP) — It would seem that pursuing the American League batting crown is becoming a dangerous business.

Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins was among the leaders recently with a .289 average when an injury sidelined him for the rest of the season.

Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox and Danny Cater of the Oakland Athletics, also battling for the title, have now joined him, at least temporarily, as spectators.

INJURIES

In the 10th, Ken Harrelson and Reggie Smith crashed home runs to propel the Red Sox to a 6-4 victory. Mike Hershburger homered earlier for the A's.

Lee Stange, 5-5, who hurled no-run, one-hit ball for four innings in relief of starter Dick Ellsworth, picked up the victory.

SEGUI'S LOSS

Yastrzemski grabbed the lead in the batting race before bowing out of the game. His two hits in five at bats boosted his average to .291. Cater, with one-for-three, remained at .289.

Yaz said he wasn't concerned about the batting championship yet.

"It's too early to be making so muct out of this thing. I've been in it four times before and it doesn't mean anything until

Three Teams Win In Softball Play

The Harding Gophers, the I-J Bestsellers and Cliff's Chevron were winners in 16-inch lob ball division play of the San Rafael Recreation Department Adult Softball League yesterday at Albert Field.

The Harding Gophers nicked Fairchild, 2-1, winning on Lee Eisenhut's solo homer. The I-J Bestsellers exploded for four runs in the final frame to take a 7-5 win over Wrights Richfield, and Joe Lucas and John Coleman drove in four runs each to lead Cliff's Chevron to a 12-6 mauling of the San Rafael Jaycees.

Mr. Versatile For Stanford

STANFORD (AP)—Last year's part-time quarterback, Mark Marquess, is being developed into a versatile positioner with the Stanford Indians.

He has been shifted to split end but also will play safety.

"He is such a versatile, gifted kid that I didn't want him backing up Jim Plunkett at quarterback," said Coach John Ralston.

Jack Alautica, freshman fullback two years ago, rejoined the team in drills yesterday. Ralston asked him to come back because of injuries to several backs.

George Stone welcomed cousin Cecil Upshaw with open arms and Upshaw turned out to be the perfect relative. But not everyone has such relations.

Larry Jaster, for example, usually has a smashing time with his Los Angeles Dodger cousins, but when he put out his arms to them last night, they kicked him out of his own house.

Everyone was barely seated in Busch Memorial Stadium when the normally quiet Dodgers drove Jaster out with eight runs in the second inning, and went on to wipe out the St. Louis Cardinals 10-1.

It was only their second victory in nine decisions against Jaster, who shut them out a record five straight times in 1966.

But for Stone and Upshaw . . . well, they had as good a time as they did last Monday when Upshaw came in and saved a victory for Stone and the Atlanta Braves.

This time, the Braves beat San Francisco 2-1 as Upshaw rescued Stone by putting out two unwelcome hitters in the ninth inning.

Elsewhere in the National League, Clay Dalrymple's two-run single sent Pittsburgh away mad as Philadelphia topped the Pirates 8-7 in 15 innings.

Houston was rained out of a twi-light doubleheader at Cincinnati in the only other games scheduled. The Astros led 3-0 after four innings when the rains came.

Rookie Bill Sudakis, who wasn't around when Jaster was having his laughs with the Dodgers, was the rudest Dodger, turning the game into a rout after Jaster was gone. He climaxed the big noise in the second with the first grand slam homer of his career, off reliever Dick Hughes.

With Jaster still around, Paul Popovich had singled home two runs and Wes Parker doubled for two more.

Taking advantage of all this was Don Sutton, who cut down the Cardinals on six hits to run his record to 8-14. Jaster, who was 2-0 against the Dodgers this season, fell to 9-12.

The victory was the sixth in seven starts for Los Angeles and helped them past the idle New York Mets and out of the league cellar. The loss, on the other hand, was not all that bad for St. Louis, which still lowered its magic number for clinching the pennant to six as the second place Giants lost.

Rookie Stone took care of the Giants with a four-hitter until he welcomed Upshaw with tired arm with one out and one on in the ninth inning. Upshaw responded by striking out Jim Hart nd Dick Dietz, and Stone had his sixth victory against three losses.

Dalrymple gave the boot to Pittsburgh after reliever Bruce Dal Canton opened the door by walking the bases loaded.

The Pirates almost got back in when Chris Cannizzaro tripled in a run in the last of the 15th, but Chris Short struck out Maury Wills for the final out.

Pittsburgh had tied the game with four runs in the ninth on four walks, a passed ball and Roberto Clemente's two-run single.

Altitude Not Affecting Tracy Smith

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — Altitude means hardly a thing when you're running—even if you're running for half an hour—says Tracy Smith. It's not likely he'll ever convince Billy Mills.

Smith, a slender 23-year-old Army Pfc, had things all his own way yesterday when he handily won the 10,000-meter run at the U.S. Olympic track and field trials and won a trip to Mexico City next month.

MILLS OUT

The second and third finishers —Van Nelson and Tom Laris—also earned berths on the team, but Mills, the top U.S. star of the Olympics four years ago, was denied another trip when he finished a lackluster and painful fourth.

In addition, another top hopeful for a gold medal in a distance race, Gerry Lindgren, missed in his bid to make the team in the 10,000 and will have to settle for a crack at a 5,000-meter birth. And it's far from a cinch that he'll make it.

Running at high altitude—the Echo Summit ski resort near here is 7,377 feet above sea level, 28 feet higher than Mexico City—is nothing new to Smith. He has trained for two years at his parents' fishing lodge in Southern California, running each day at altitudes between 8,400 and 9,200 feet.

BIG LIFT

"It gave me a big psychological lift," said Smith, who is 5-foot-11 and weighs 158 pounds. "I had a lot more left."

Smith, who finished in 30:00.4, a less than brilliant time, said that when Mills dropped out of contention near the end of the race, he thought about settling for third.

"But people expected me to win," he said, so he passed Laris with one-half lap to go and sprinted home the winner. Smith said he will try to earn a berth in the 5,000 and double at Mexico.

The 5,000 now represents Lindgren's last hope and he first must get past the trials tomorrow — which he can do by running 14:45 or better—and then come in among the first three in the finals on Friday.

SAYS LITTLE

Lindgren, who was fifth, had little to say except "I didn't have the feeling."

Mills had previously tried to qualify for the team in the Marathon, but was kept out by a painful side injury and he said it cropped up again, bothering him along with the altitude.

The rest of the day's activities was given over to two rounds of races in 100-meter dash that eliminated nobody because all 11 runners bettered the 10.4 standard set by the U.S. Olympic Committee. The reason for the extra races was so there would be exactly as many as in the Mexico Games.

The real fun in the dash comes today when the semifinals and finals will be held. Charlie Greene, Ronnie Ray Smith and Jim Hines all ran 10.0 yesterday, tying the existing record, but falling short of the pending mark of 9.9 they all share.

Shot putters, 400-meter intermediate hurdlers and 800-meter runners also went through the preliminary motions, with few being eliminated, because as Jim Ryun, who finished fourth in his 800 heat said, "We were just trying to make it into the next race."

Cup challenge round—granting the Yanks get by their last hurdle, the inter-zone final.

CONFIDENT

"I think we're sure to make it and we should win the cup," said Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., the Davis Cup captain. "Ashe was the best player in the world this week. Graebner played great tennis. Our doubles teams have been outstanding. All odds, for once, are on our side."

The Aussies, their strength bled by pro raids, will try to defend with Bill Bowrey and Ray Ruffles, two outsiders who did not compete here. The United States next must play the winner of the series involving India, Japan and West Germany.

The United States has one of its doubles teams, Stan Smith and Bobby Lutz of Pasadena, already in the finals of the U.S. Open and another, Graebner and Charlie Pasarell, leading Ashe and Spain's Andres Gimeno 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 12-12. The unfinished doubles were scheduled this morning.

DOUBLES

The women's doubles were won by amateurs margaret Court Smith of Australia and Maria Bueno of Brazil, who upset top-seeded pros Billie Jean King of Berkeley, and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco 4-6, 9-7, 8-6.

Ashe's victory on the center court at staid West Side Tennis Club ended a long, hard climb to the top.

As a youngster, he was not permitted to play on Richmond park courts because of the color of his skin. He was befriended by Dr. Walter Johnson of Lynchburg, Va., who also helped Althea Gibson become the queen of women's tennis.

Arthur, a quiet, mild-mannered youngster, frail of frame, attended UCLA on scholarship, won the national collegiate title and championships on clay, hard courts and grass and became America's top Davis Cup ace.

NOT ACCEPTED

But he never felt—because of his color—that he was ever really accepted.

"I am more at ease in Europe than in this country," he said. "I am treated better everywhere than here."

He said that now he has won world recognition for his tennis, he feels an obligation to help his race in their current black power structure.

"I am black. I am caught up in it," he said. "You might call me a moderate militant. I'm not for killing people or bad violence but when you see your fellow black people hit with sticks and molested by cops anger builds up in you until you have to do something.

"Once, I never looked back. Now I am forced to look back. If you plan for the future you have to study the past."

Speedboat Driver Succumbs

DETROIT (UPI) — Warner Gardner, injured when his hydroplane crashed during the final heat of the Gold Cup race on the Detroit River Sunday, died yesterday after undergoing surgery.

Gardner, who joined the thunder boat set when he was 46 and was one of the best when he died at 52, converted his Miss Eagle Electric into a winner where others had failed, because he had a heavy foot.

He hadn't slowed down when he attempted to take a turn in Sunday's race and Eagle flew upward tossing Gardner out. The retired Air Force lieutenant colonel sustained critical chest and head injuries, underwent surgery, and never regained consciousness before he died 23 hours later.

His death was the third on the Detroit River, described as the most treacherous course in hydroplane racing, in six years. Chuck Thompson was killed instantly in 1966 when his Miss Smirnoff struck a wave and blew apart and Bob Hayward broke his neck in a Miss Supertest tragedy in 1962.

Harrelson, of his game-winning blast, said, "I hit that one for Alvin Dark and all the people in Kansas City who were happy to see Charlie Finley go."

Harrelson was released by Finley last season, when the team was in Kansas City, after Finley and Dark, the field manager, became embroiled in a dispute and Harrelson sided with Dark.

Tiant Fans 16 On His Way To 20th Win; Tigers Romp

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chalk up one more strike for Minnesota's G-Whiz Kid . . . and put the rest on Louis Tiant's side of the tally sheet.

Tiant struck out 16 Minnesota batters last night and breezed to his 20th victory of the season as the Cleveland Indians trimmed the Twins 6-1.

One of the Twins' five hits off the husky right-hander was a home run by Graig Nettles . . . the rookie outielder's fifth in four games.

Tiant, who has lost nine, became the fifth 20-game winner in the majors and climbed within five strikeouts of teammate Sam McDowell's season high of 253.

Nettles, ninth Minnesota player to hit homers in four consecutive games, matched ex-Twin Jimmie Hall's club record of five in that span.

The American League's top three sluggers also homered. Frank Howard, the ajor league leader, slammed No. 40 in Washington's 6-2 victory over Baltiore; Boston's Ken Harrelson cracked No. 34 in a 6-4 10-inning nod over Oakland and Detroit's Willie Horton hit No. 33 as the league leaders pounded California 6-0 behind Mickey Lolich's two-hitter.

Tiant, who had won only one gae . . . and completed none . . . since Aug. 10, styied the Twins after Nettles' first inning homer. He struck out the side three ties and fanned 14 through the seventh before tapering off.

The 27-year-old Cuban ace is Cleveland's first 20-game winner since 1962, when Dick Donovan made the charmed circle. Detroit's Denny McLain, Baltiore's Dave McNally, St. Louis' Bob Gibson and San Francisco's Juan Marichal also have won 20 or ore this year.

Howard helped the lowly Senators drop second-place Baltiore eight games off the pace with a bases-empty homer in the third after Ken McMullen's three-run first-inning shot shook up loser Gene Brabender.

Rookie Gary Holman added a two-run pinch single in the seventh as Washington snapped a five-game losing streak.

Lolich, 14-9, limited the Angels to a third-inning single by Aurelio Rodriguez and an eighth-inning double by Tom Satriano as Detroit reduced its pennant magic number to 10.

Horton hit a two-run homer in the first inning and Mickey Stanley and Al Kaline smacked successive solo shots in the third.

New Orleans—Released defensive back Ross Fichtner; two more cuts to be announced Tuesday.

Marin's Swimmers Bring Home Honors

Marin County's top two swim clubs made a shambles of the Redwood Empire Swim League Championships (Div. I) last Saturday and Sunday as the Marin Swim Club and the San Rafael Swim Club finished one-two in team standings at Rohnert Park.

The Marin Swim Club rolled up 492 to beat out San Rafael, which had 464 points. Santa Rosa was a close third with 462 points, followed by Pittsburgh Swim Club and Rohnert Park.

Three Marin Swim Club stars took high points trophies and three San Rafael swimmers also added high point trophies.

The DeMont brothers, Ken and Rick did their share in the boys division. Ken, in the boys 9-10, won four first places, set three new league records (in the 50 fly, 50 free and 50 back), and won the high point laurels. Brother Rick took the same honors in the 11-12 division with three first and two new league records (50 back, 200 I.M.).

Maura Campion grabbed two gold medals in the girls 9-10 division, setting a league mark in the 50 butterfly.

Tam McDuffie, brother Clint and Jo Hislop took high point trophies for the San Rafael Swim Club.

Jo set a loop mark in the girls 13-14 100 back and took three first places. Clint took a pair of first in the boys 13-14 division and broke the 100 freestyle loop mark. Tami took two first places in girls 11-12.

Peter Kamlar was San Rafael's other multiple winner, grabbing two firsts in the boys eight-under division.

Single winners for San Rafael were Kimi Fox and Moira McSweeney.

single and was sacrificed to second.

Tommy Aaron tallied Atlanta's second run by doubling and moving to third on Deron Johnson's single. Aaron crossed the plate when Marty Martinez hit into a double play.

IMPROVES

George Stone improved his record to 6-3 by limiting the Giants to four hits. Cecil Upshaw took over in the ninth after Stone allowed a one-out single to Willie McCovey. Upshaw ended the game by fanning Jim Hart and Dick Dietz.

Marin Drivers Take Second, Third Places

John David To Remain At Tight End

REDWOOD CITY, (UPI) — John David Crow is a tight end for the San Francisco 49ers "from now on."

That's the word from Prospector coach Dick Nolan, who said that the long-time running back did a good job at his new spot against Los Angeles in last weekend's exhibition action.

Nolan also said that newly acquired Clifton McNeil would start at wide receiver in Sunday's season opener at Baltimore after catching 10 passes against the Rams.

Roland Lakes, the big defensive tackle, has his hand in a cast but probably will go against the Colts, too.

Word from Baltimore has it that Johnny Unitas has a sore arm and may not see action against the 49ers, but San Francisco seemed skeptical at the news. They pointed out that Unitas has had a bad elbow for years, but still always passes the Prospectors dizzy.

Tiger Success Story: Winning The Hard Way

OAKLAND—The Detroit Tigers have pulled out of town for the last time this season with every reason to believe they'll clinch the pennant relaxedly

The reasons behind their reasoning are elementary in a complicated sort of way.

"We've simply been winning the hard way," says a spokesman for the club. Detroit's late-inning, come back charges weren't prevalent last year, and they lost the pennant on the final day of the season.

Everything's different this year, in the logic of the Tiger official.

"THE PRESSURE of fighting for first place isn't new anymore. These guys know the importance of each game. They're not saying, 'We're behind, we'll get 'em tomorrow.' These players believe they can get 'em today."

The result? Fewer, shorter losing streaks. A year ago, the Tigers had two loss skeins of seven. Their longest deficit mark this time around is four (twice).

Certainly, Denny McLain has been a stopper's stopper to prevent sizeable losing streaks. And when McLain faltered briefly over the last fortnight, Earl Wilson picked up the slack.

EVERYTHING'S working out, which it has to in a pennant year. Youngsters John Warden, Daryl Patterson and Les Cain were fine in the bullpen early in the year. When they faded, John Hiller, Pat Dobson and starter Mickey Lolich came along with relief succor.

Only four Tiger hurlers of '68 opened the preceding season with Detroit. And they're the Sparma, Wilson. The decaying bullpen of '67 is no more.

THE TIGERS' impending title year is not without its subtleties. Although the team batting average is down about 13 points, to just under .230, the Bengal hurlers are yielding a half run less per game.

Detroit depends on power for its punch. With such a wee batting average, a club must behave thusly. Some 40 per cent of all Tiger runs this year have come via the home run. All last year the Tigers hit 152 round trippers. In their first 140 games this season, the homer mark was 158.

HOW ABOUT individuals?

Al Kaline was disabled for a month in June, and the Detroits won something like 23 of 30 without their high average star. Mickey Stanley stepped in, not with a big average but fine team play, to fill what seemed to be an immense cavity to the outside world.

Don Wert was hit on the head with a ptich in Cleveland in late June. His batting average immediately dipped — and stayed down, about 70 points under his .261 lifetime.

MANAGER MAYO SMITH was forced to make an infield shift — not for third baseman Wert but for brilliant-fielding shortstop Ray Oyler. Young Tom Matchick took over at short and has stayed there. Although he's hitting only just over .200, he's 60 points better than Oyler.

With their power, Detroit could afford an Oyler, but not both Oyler and Wert.

WHO'S THE team leader? To some extent, says our confidante, it's clever, muscular catcher Bill Freehan. But mostly — and unexpectedly — it's oldtimer Eddie Mathews, the injury-prone veteran of World Series play with the Milwaukee Braves.

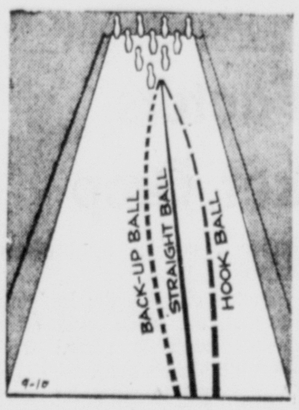
"Eddit's the guy they all really respect and look up to. When he got out of the hospital a couple of weeks ago, he seemed to lift the whole club," a rare deed for a 36-year-old utility infielder.

SO MUCH for the surface reasons behind Detroit's move toward its first pennant in 23 years. A Detroit newsman has a more sophisticated notion, however.

"We were out on strike all season up until a couple of weeks ago," he says. "And the players tell me that without us around the harass them in print, they have no trouble winning."

BOWLING TIPS

BY MARION LADEWIG



What is a back-up ball really? Does the ball actually back up after getting part way to the pins? Nobody seems to know why this type of ball acquired its name, but, in bowling, a back-up is a ball that (for a right-hander) curves to the right instead of to the left. Today's sketch shows the three main types of balls — hook, straight and back-up. Avoid the back-up, if you can, because it causes the ball to glance away from the pins instead of driving into them.

Boccabella Nears .300 For Tacoma

Blasting four more home runs for the week, San Anselmo's John Boccabella, catcher for Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League, ran his homer total to 16, it was reported by Player Periscope of Novato.

Boccabella batted .378 for the last reported week to hike his average to .293. He had 14 runs batted in and now totals 43. He also has a triple and 10 doubles for the season, part of it spent with the parent Chicago Cubs.

LEE IMPRESSIVE

Bill Lee of Terra Linda, pitcher for Winston-Salem, N. C., wound up his season in the Carolina League with a very impressive earned run average of 1.72. He has one loss for the week to finish with a 3-3 win-loss record. In 47 innings of work, Lee struck out 38 and walked 19.

Nick Willard of Novato, didn't see any action during the last week of play for Kennewick, Wash., of the Northwest League. He finished the season with a .279 batting average, had six homers, three triples, nine doubles, and 34 runs batted in.

Makalena In Coma

HONOLULU (AP) — Golfer Ted Makalena remained in deep coma early today, more than 20 hours after he was found floating face down in shallow water off Kihio Beach in Waikiki.

A spokesman at Kaiser Hospital said Makalena's vital life signs remained stable but that the prognosis "is guarded for the recovery of brain functions."

It was still undetermined whether Makalena, 34, who won the Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament in 1966, hit his head on hard-packed sand while diving or suffered some sort of seizure.

There was no indication of a head injury, a hospital spokesman said.

When Makalena was admitted Sunday, there was no pulse and no blood pressure. A nurse said drugs, heart massage and oxygen restored the life functions.

Kansas City Hangs On For Win Over Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Jan Stenerud kicked four field goals and the Kansas City Chiefs won their American Football League opener from the Oilers last night.

The victory was achieved, however, only after the Chiefs halted a fourth-quarter Houston uprising, led by quarterback Pete Beathard.

The Chiefs won 26-21 but saw Beathard cut a 19-point Houston deficit with two touchdown passes while missing two others.

Stenerud booted fourth period field goals of 33, 26 and 32 yards to contribute to Kansas City's 26-7 lead.

Houston, held to only 29 yards rushing the first two quarters, caught fire with 11 minutes left in the game. Beathard passed on practically every down, connecting with Sid Blanks, Ode Burrell and Mac Haik.

Two plays later Emmitt Thomas intercepted at the 12.

With just 59 seconds remaining, a 33-yard pass to Burrell put the Oilers at the Kansas City 11. The Chiefs stopped three of four Beathard attempts and took over after a fourth-down touchback with 21 seconds to play.

The Oilers had jumped to a 7-0 first-quarter lead on a five-yard run by Hoyle Granger.

Kansas City, utilizing two passes by Len Dawson, then advanced 55 yards to set up a 27-yard field goal by Stenerud.

Jim Kearney intercepted a Beathard pass to halt a 69-yard Houston drive at the Kansas City four. Ernie Ladd's theft of another toss ignited a 30-yard scoring drive for a 10-7 Kansas City advantage in the second period.

The Chiefs scored two more times in the second period as Wendell Hayes plunged over from the one-yard line and Otis Taylor raced across from the five.

Perry's Win, Tie At San Quentin

Perry's Delicatessen, champion of the Novato Softball League, ended its season Sunday with a victory and a tie in a doubleheader at San Quentin Prison.

Bob Riggs pitched a two-hitter and Dick White cracked a three-run homer to lead Perry's to a 4-2 victory in the first game. The second game ended in a 6-6 tie.

NO EXPERIENCE

Bruins Hurting, Face Long Year

By GORDON SAKAMOTO

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—UCLA came within three points of representing the Pacific 8 Conference in the Rose Bowl last January but don't expect the Bruins to come that close this season.

Graduation has decimated Tommy Prothro's football machine, leaving him with only eight of 22 starters from the 1967 team.

Of course, the top loss would be all-everything quarterback Gary Beban, who during his three-year varsity career set 13 school records. But, in addition, Prothro lost five of seven starting offensive linemen and two key defensive backs.

To compound matters, Tony Steponovich and Ron Tretter, a pair of lettermen guards who were counted on to help anchor the offensive line, have been sidelined for the year with preseason injuries.

LONG AFTERNOONS

And if the neophyte line fails to mature quickly, Bill Bolden, Beban's successor, will have to scramble more than he cares to, and running backs Rick Purdy and Greg Jones may be in for some long Saturday afternoons.

Mark Gustafson is the lone returnee in the defensive secondary but newcomers Dennis Spurling and Danny Graham are improving and may give the Bruins an effective deep back unit before too long. Junior college transfers Scott Hooks and Doug Huff should see action there.

Despite the losses, Prothro, who in three seasons at the Westwood campus has run up an impressive 24-5-2 record and put the Bruins high in the national rankings three straight years, is optimistic.

If the offensive line jells and the defensive secondary comes along as Prothro predicts it will, UCLA rooters may have something to cheer about.

Working behind a solid line last year, Purdy and Jones established themselves as running threats. Each rolled up more than 600 yards which, combined with Beban's passing, gave the Bruins an effective balanced attack.

This year, Purdy and Jones face stiff competition from a pair of flashy second year men in Bob Manning and Mickey Cureton. The latter is a 5-9, 182-pounder who is described by Prothro as the "greatest sophomore running back I've ever seen."

As a varsity quarterback, Bolden saw only 61 minutes of action behind Beban last year, hardly enough to qualify him as a tested performer. However, Prothro feels the 6-3, 207-pound junior has the tools to become a fine signal-caller.

The strong point in the overall structure at UCLA will be the defensive line which has good size, quickness and experience.

KICKING STAR

The Bruins, whose 21-20 loss to USC and 16-16 tie to Oregon State cost them a trip to the Rose Bowl, face a schedule that includes meetings with five teams that were ranked among the top 20 in pre-season forecasts.

And to make matters worse, three of those games will be played away from home—at Tennessee, Syracuse and Oregon State. They'll face powerhouses Penn State and USC in Los Angeles.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investing $1,000 For Youth's Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Our son is overseas with the Peace Corps, and we expect when he comes home he will want to return to school for his master's degree. At this time we would like to invest $1,000 for him. What advice can you give us? — L. S.

A. Although you do not state it specifically, there is probably a time limit on your investment, thus you might be faced with having to dispose of your shares at a loss. If, however, this is not the case, I am happy to endorse your plan.

One excellent vehicle for your purpose is Texas Instruments, a blue chip growth issue and the leading manufacturer of semiconductors products. Earnings are somewhat cyclical but in a generally rising trend.

Another selection, Greyhound Corp., controls the world's largest bus system. Diversification in recent years resulted in the company setting up a subsidiary in computer leasing which is 78 per cent owned. Another wholly owned subsidiary leases industrial machinery and office equipment. Recent acquisitions have moved Greyhound into the food and office service fields.

Q. I would like to invest toward my Army retirement nine years away. A friend tells me I would have to have $1,000 to start. Can I start with only a few hundred, and could you suggest a stock? — D. C.

A. Investing a few hundred dollars is certainly possible, but you will pay a slightly higher commission rate for the transaction. Because your purchase will undoubtedly be less than 100 shares, it will be called an odd lot. These trades are subject to a fractional price differential and the minimum commission is $6. For amounts from $100 to $400, you will be charged 2 per cent plus $1 by your broker for his services.
